Big Three to Call For UN Action if Aggression Begins

Any Move by Chinese Reds Against Indochina Is to Bring Call at Once

Paris, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today formally announced that they would demand United Nations action in the event of Chinese Communist or Russian aggression in southeast Asia.

John Sherman Cooper of the U. S. said such aggression would be a matter for "most urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations." Selwyn Lloyd of Britain immediately declared that his government associated itself with this "important statement."

Francis LaCoste of France said his country would demand immediate and effective intervention from the UN if the Chinese Reds moved against Indochina.

Declarations Made
The three western spokesmen made their declarations in the UN political committee during a debate on the question of condemning Russia for allegedly violating her 1945 treaty with Nationalist China.

Cooper called the committee's attention to implied threats. (Continued on Page 13, Col. 7)

March of Dimes Ball Starts at 8

The third annual Parade of Bands for the March of Dimes will be held at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. It is under the sponsorship of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, AFL and Radio Station WKNY.

The program will feature more than 300 musicians, 20 singers and over a dozen novelty entertainers. The entire Kingston High School Band will play and Joe Kelly, 11-year old polio victim, will reign as king. The high school band will play a concert from 7:30 to 8. The doors will open at 7.

An additional member of the Telephone Committee will be Miss Bernice DeWells, who will act as a tabulator for the pledges.

Mrs. Shook Gets Suspended Term

Highland Woman Is Placed on Probation for Year; Trouble Cited

New York, Jan. 28 (Special)—Mrs. Dorothea L. Shook, 31, of Philip avenue, Highland, was given a suspended sentence and was placed on probation for one year by Judge Vincent L. Leibell in U. S. District Court here this morning.

Mrs. Shook on Dec. 14 had pleaded guilty to a charge of defrauding by mail. Assistant District Attorney Jerome Leone charged that she joined a "lonely hearts" club and obtained money from likely mates by inducing them to send her money to visit him.

In District Court today, Leone had asked for a 60-day jail sentence.

Bernard Moldau of the Legal Aid Society, who represented Mrs. Shook, said she had gotten into trouble because her finances were desperate.

Describing his client as "genuinely repentant," Moldau told the court, "I don't think 60 days will straighten her out. Her five children will be enough of a deterrent."

Two Ulster Men Are Among Rotation Troops
Two Ulster county men were among 3,227 rotation troops aboard the Navy Transport R. L. Howze, which arrived at Seattle from the Far East on Jan. 26, according to the Associated Press. They are:

Sergeant First Class Earl G. Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mack of R. R. 4, Box 431, Kingston. He had been in Korea since December, 1950.

Captain Henry R. Fiore, of Route 1, Box 91, Highland.

Strong Man Takes Post As Premier

Aly Maher Pasha Takes Oath With Cabinet at Palace — to Read Decrees

No Toll Is Given

Official Casualty Report Not Made; Cairo Quiet —Business Resumes

Cairo, Jan. 28 (AP)—A new government was sworn into office today in a shift directed by King Farouk and viewed by some western observers as a step which might ease the bloody and violent dispute between Britain and Egypt.

The new prime minister, "strong man" Aly Maher Pasha, and his cabinet took the oath at Abdin Palace, where they were received by the King. A later announcement said the new government would read to Parliament tonight decrees issued under martial law.

Farouk last night turned Mustapha El Nahas Pasha's Wafdist party regime out of office after the Nahas government's Nationalist campaign to drive the British out of the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan culminated in a wild eruption of bloodshed and burning Saturday. The Nahas government termed the outbreak an attempted revolution.

No Newspapers Printed

No newspapers here have printed any details of Saturday's rioting. There was no official casualty figure, although deaths may have run to scores, including many trapped in burning buildings. Preliminary police estimates were that about 20 persons were killed and 80 wounded in the outbreak by mobs, who were infuriated by the deaths of more than 40 Egyptian auxiliary police in a clash with British troops at Ismailia in the Canal zone Friday. The British reckoned their dead, injured and missing in the rioting at more than 15, but it may go higher. The embassy reported nine bodies found in the British Turf Club which was burned, and more may be in the flooded basement. At least eight Britons were reported missing, possibly some of them the unidentified dead at the Turf Club.

Cairo Is Quiet

Cairo was quiet this morning, although some scattered shots were heard. Egyptian soldiers still were deployed at crossroads, along avenues and around embassies and big business concerns. They fired occasionally over the heads of people who got too close to buildings ruled in the rioting. Businesses reopened, some with half-lowered steel shutters. Barclay's bank, gutted by flames, announced it would open soon as possible.

King Farouk changed the government under a constitutional provision empowering him to dismiss a cabinet and appoint a new one. But such action under the constitution must be followed by an order dissolving parliament and calling a new general election within a month. As yet no decrees concerning parliament have been announced.

Parliament Meets

The Wafdist-dominated parliament meets tonight, with the new cabinet attending. Premier Maher Pasha indicated his government would seek support of all parties, saying "we must all in the present."

Children March to Class, Lose No Sessions of Work

Without loss of a class session, 625 students from Public Schools No. 7 and 8 were transferred this morning to the new George Washington School located on Wall street and Washington avenue.

Pupils from the two schools who were scheduled to move to the new school building, met at the usual hour in their respective class rooms where their books had been previously placed in shopping bags with the name of the pupil attached. Each pupil picked up his or her books and under the supervision of their teacher marched to the new school, and directly to their room where class work was taken up.

U.S. Studies Its Action If Truce Talks Fail

Hoover Says It's Time to Renew U. S. Foreign Policies; Sees Perils

Says 'We Denied Ourselves Victory'

Herbert Hoover, only former living president of the United States, poses before radio and television appearance in New York to report to the nation "The Year After the Great Debate." He counseled America, as he did a year ago, to build air and sea power to defend Western Hemisphere. He said "we denied ourselves victory" by veto of Gen. MacArthur's policies of destroying Chinese air sanctuary in Manchuria and the employment of Gen. Chiang's armies in Korea.

Kingston area residents will have their first opportunity next month to donate blood locally for use by armed forces men wounded in Korea.

A mobile unit from the Red Cross regional blood center at Schenectady will visit Kingston on Tuesday, Feb. 19, Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, announced today.

The visit will be the first of a series of visits to Kingston and Ulster county to collect blood for Korea under the Red Cross armed forces blood program.

Notification that the "bloodmobile" will visit Kingston on Feb. 19 was received here this morning from the Schenectady center.

Details as to when and where to register for making blood donations will be released as soon as determined.

Maybank Opposes Truman, Backs Russell for President

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), a key man in Congress on many administration measures, said today he is against another term for President Truman.

And Maybank, Democratic national committeeman from South Carolina, predicted "most of the south" will unite behind Senator Russell of Georgia for the party's presidential nomination.

"As far as I am concerned, I am for Dick Russell first, last and all the way," Maybank told a reporter.

He has said that much before. But he added this is the first time — 1948 included — he publicly has voiced opposition to nominating Mr. Truman.

Alternative Angles Are Considered

Former President Says We Lost Chances for Victory in Korea

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—"Dangerous overtraining" of American economy and continental Europe's "inertia" in rearming, Herbert Hoover says, make it advisable that Congress reconsider U. S. foreign policies.

The former President, calling for a study of alternative actions, proposes that American ground forces eventually be withdrawn from Europe while this country concentrates on air and sea power. He said an exception would be made for those U. S. forces needed to protect American air bases outside Atlantic pact nations.

Mr. Hoover's appeal that Congress recalculate the "risk of war or economic degeneration" was made yesterday in a nationwide television and radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

He indicated that such a re-study of national policy would amount to the re-opening of "the great debate" of a year ago in the light of events that have happened since.

Joins in Debate

In December, 1950, Mr. Hoover joined in that foreign policy debate in a speech in which he summoned Americans to defend the western hemisphere as a "Gibraltar" of freedom.

Recommendations in yesterday's speech closely paralleled those Mr. Hoover made in late 1950. These, in essence, would have European allies concentrate on ground forces while the United States and Britain built air and sea striking power. The U. S. also would provide its friends such munitions as it could afford, but it would forego a large ground army so as not to risk endangering the national economy.

Events Are Reviewed

The 77-year-old former President reviewed events of the past year in Europe and Asia. He was critical of United Nations policy in Korea and called for revision of American relations to the UN charter.

He noted that since his previous speech "the only substantial additions to western Europe ground armies" have been divisions sent over by the United States.

Allies Give Plan For POW Exchange

Reds Promise to Study Proposal — Includes Basic Points

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 28 (AP)—A detailed working draft of a 14-point UN plan for exchanging prisoners of war in Korea was handed Communist truce negotiators today.

The Reds promised to study the proposal.

The prisoner exchange plan incorporates all basic points of the Allied proposal submitted Jan. 8, including voluntary repatriation which the Reds have said they will never accept.

It is a companion piece to the detailed draft on truce supervision given the Communists Sunday.

Staff officers were scheduled to start work on this Allied draft Monday, but the Communists asked for and got a 24-hour postponement. The truce supervision committee is in recess while the staff officers attempt to reach agreement.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby presented North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho a revised roster of 132,000 Communist prisoners of war held by the UN, listing names in Chinese and North Korean. He said the Allies also were ready to exchange information on allegedly missing prisoners.

Accuses Allies of Blackmail

Lee thanked Libby for the data but accused the Allies of attempting blackmail because they hold more prisoners than the Reds.

He repeated previous arguments that the principle of voluntary repatriation, of "so-called one-for-one" exchange, of mixing civilians and war prisoners and paroling prisoners would deprive POWs of their rights.

Three Possible Courses of Action Are Given Study; One May Make War Broader

Debate Is Urged

Air Force, Navy Stand Against Those Who Oppose Power

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States and its allies in Korea have begun exploring the question of what should be done in the event truce talks there collapse.

It was emphasized that everything possible still will be done to help reach a satisfactory truce, and no unnecessary risks will be taken if peace talks fail represents recognition in inner councils here that prospects of an agreement are slackening somewhat.

There was no clear indication of what line might be taken if truce talks failed, but these possibilities are reported under study:

1. The United Nations could increase military pressure on Korea to try to persuade the Red command to reach an agreement. This would be costly to both sides, as both have strengthened their positions during the semi-armistice.

2. The UN could accept a withering-away of the war. In such a situation there would eventually be no fighting and no armistice, but also there would be no exchange of prisoners. This point, an irreducible minimum of a truce arrangement as far as the UN is concerned, has been a major stumbling block to date.

3. Direct pressure could be put on Communist China by methods ranging from naval blockades to a direct attack on Chinese bases or munitions centers. This would broaden the war and is a step for which some allies have no enthusiasm.

Enforcement Problem

If a truce should be arranged, there is the problem of enforcing it.

One proposed plan — punitive measures against Communist China herself in case of violations — has touched off a new debate in high strategy circles over the old question of the capability of air power.

The air force and navy are standing together, this time, against a school of army thought which discounts the feasibility of punishing Red China with air-sea attacks, it was learned today.

Although the air force-navy idea appears to have been accepted at top policy levels, the formal proposals going out from the U. S. government to the other allies in the Korean war, behind-the-scenes opposition persists.

Whether the issue was put to a vote among the joint chiefs of staff or was settled under the urging of higher authorities is not clear.

Difficult to Find

Regarding current truce negotiations, officials here said today a reasonable formula for breaking the deadlock is difficult to find because of the prisoner of war problem.

The Reds want forced exchange of prisoners, the UN insists on voluntary repatriation. The argument at this point is rapidly hardening into a basic difference between two ways of life.

Officials say privately, moreover, that the problem is vastly increased by the double dealing of the Reds. They say it is hard to know what the facts are, or to make them deal with the facts.

The UN insists that those prisoners who want to go home should be permitted to do so, but those who prefer to stay should be allowed to stay.

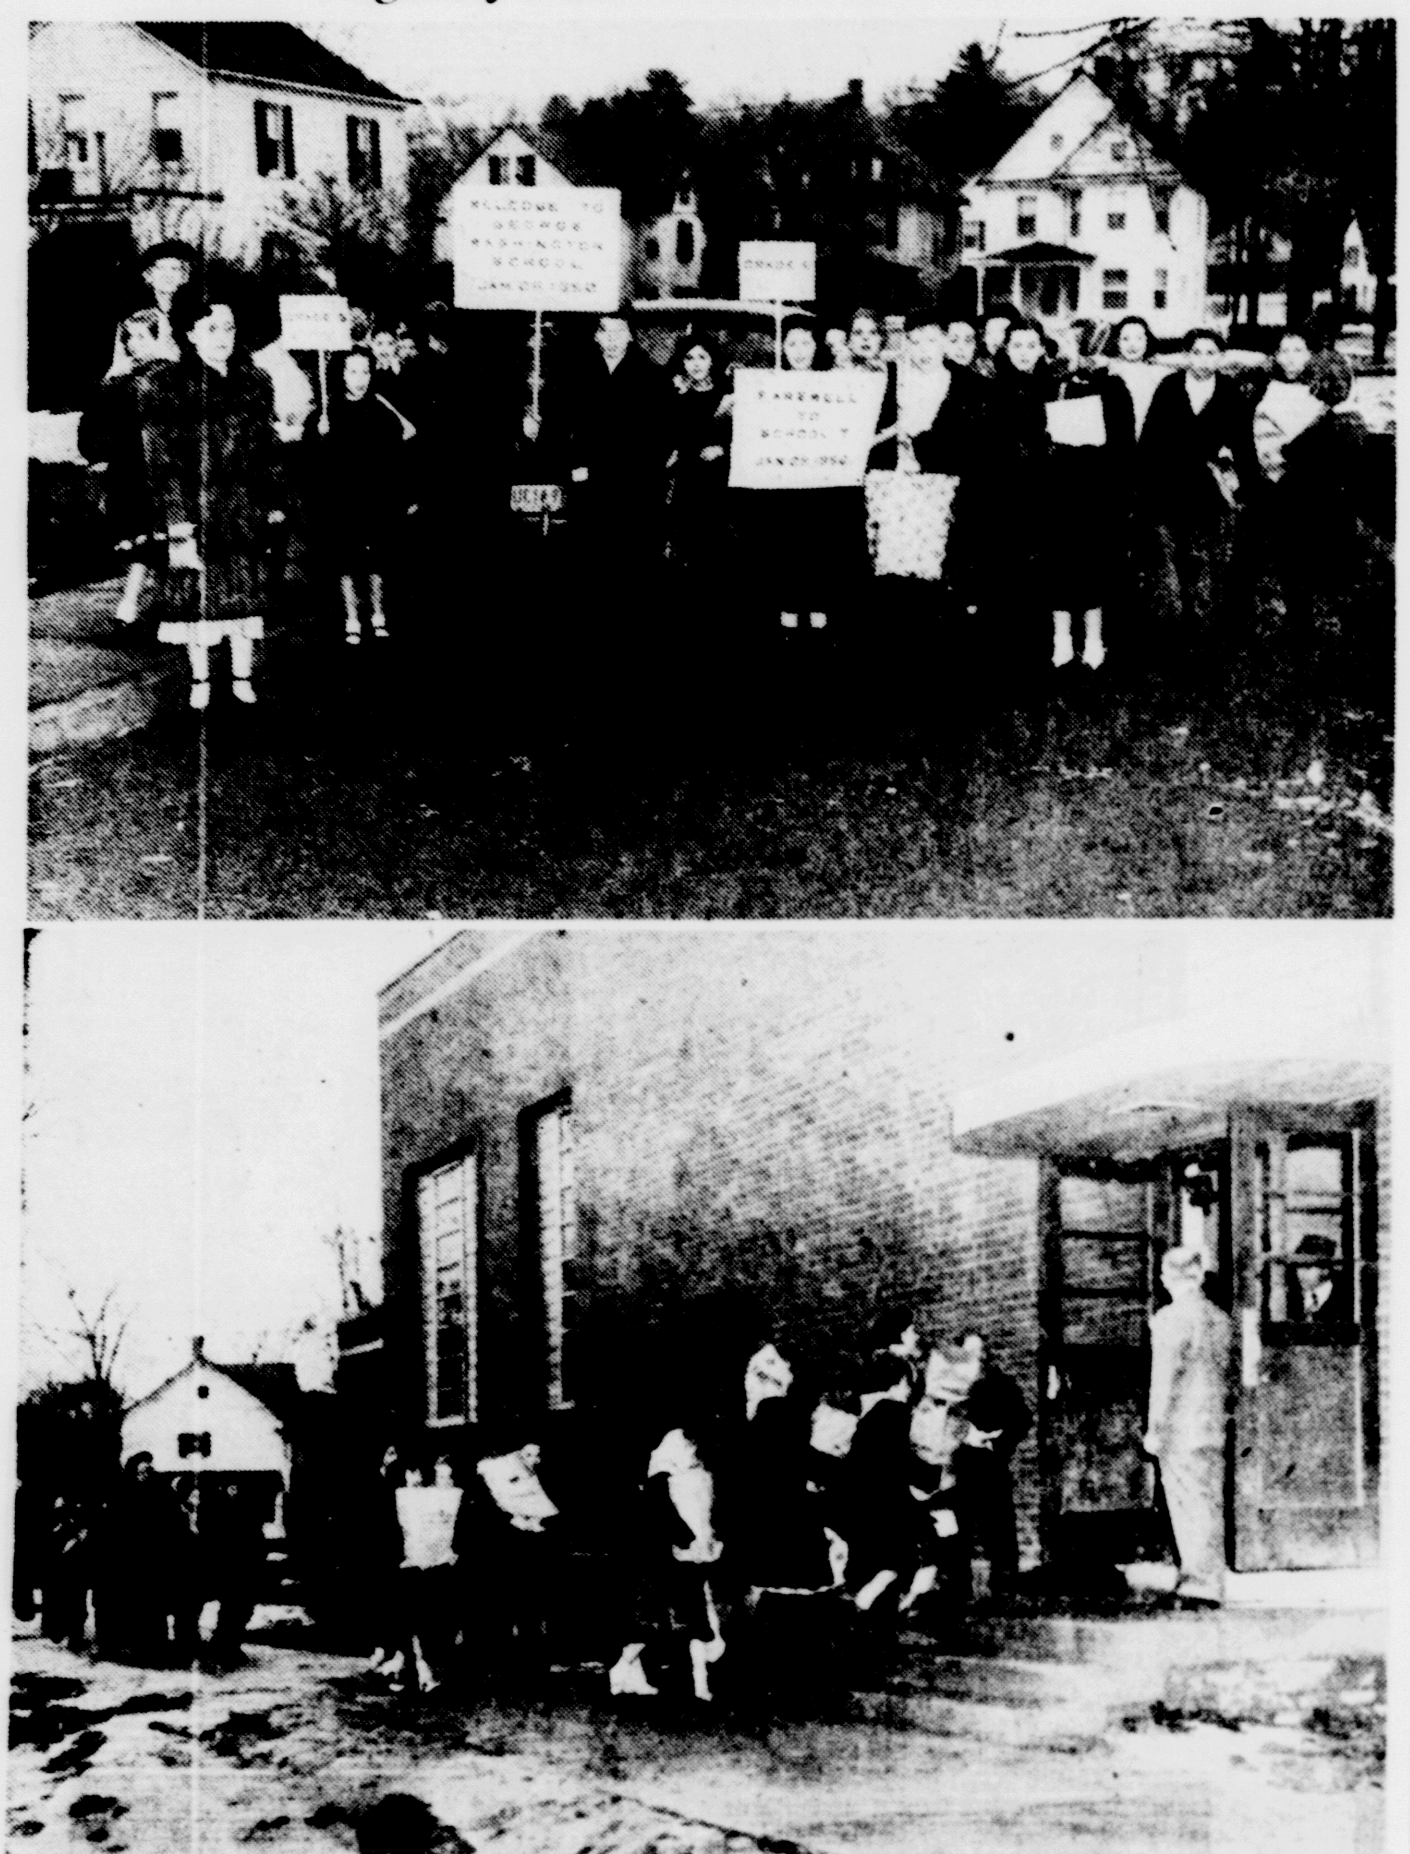

The United States' interest in getting agreement to this stems from the fact that thousands of Chinese and North Korean Reds have either surrendered or deserted to the UN side in response to promises they will be well cared for. They can't go home now without risking torture or death.

Officials believe there will be many suicides if an effort is made to force their return.

Republican Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston, made it clear last night that he not only would block a Democratic measure to outlaw the ring sport but would bottle up another calling for creation of a special state commission to probe boxing.

Wicks declared that Bob Christenberry, new chairman of the State Athletic Commission, already had taken "determined action" to carry out Governor Dewey's order to "clean up sordid conditions" in boxing. He added:

He repeated previous arguments that the principle of voluntary repatriation, of "so-called one-for-one" exchange, of mixing civilians and war prisoners and paroling prisoners would deprive POWs of their rights.

Debate Is Urged

Air Force, Navy Stand Against Those Who Oppose Power

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States and its allies in Korea have begun exploring the question of what should be done in the event truce talks there collapse.

It was emphasized that everything possible still will be done to help reach a satisfactory truce, and no unnecessary risks will be taken if peace talks fail represents recognition in inner councils here that prospects of an agreement are slackening somewhat.

There was no clear indication of what line might be taken if truce talks failed, but these possibilities are reported under study:

1. The United Nations could increase military pressure on Korea to try to persuade the Red command to reach an agreement. This would be costly to both sides, as both have strengthened their positions during the semi-armistice.

2. The UN could accept a withering-away of the war. In such a situation there would eventually be no fighting and no armistice, but also there would be no exchange of prisoners. This point, an irreducible minimum of a truce arrangement as far as the UN is concerned, has been a major stumbling block to date.

3. Direct pressure could be put on Communist China by methods ranging from naval blockades to a direct attack on Chinese bases or munitions centers. This would broaden the war, and is a step for which some allies have no enthusiasm.

Enforcement Problem

If a truce should be arranged, there is the problem of enforcing it.

One proposed plan — punitive measures against Communist China herself in case of violations — has touched off a new debate in high strategy circles over the old question of the capability of air power.

The air force and navy are standing together, this time, against a school of army thought which discounts the feasibility of punishing Red China with air-sea attacks, it was learned today.

Although the air force-navy idea appears to have been accepted at top policy levels, with formal proposals going out from the U. S. government to the other allies in the Korean war, behind-the-scenes opposition persists.

Whether the issue was put to a vote among the joint chiefs of staff or was settled under the urging of higher authorities is not clear.

Difficult to Find

Regarding current truce negotiations, officials here said today a reasonable formula for breaking the deadlock is difficult to find because of the prisoner of war problem.

The Reds want forced exchange of prisoners. The UN insists on voluntary repatriation. The argument over this point is rapidly hardening into a basic difference between two ways of life.

Officials say privately, moreover, that the problem is vastly increased by the double dealing of the Reds. They say it is hard to know what the facts are, or to make them deal with the facts.

The UN insists that those prisoners who want to go home should be permitted to do so, but those who prefer to stay should be allowed to stay.

The United States' interest in getting agreement to this stems from the fact that thousands of Chinese and North Korean Reds have either surrendered or deserted to the UN side in response to promises they will be well cared for. They can not go home now without risking torture or death. Officials believe there will be many suicides if an effort is made to force their return.

Day Jailor in Hospital

Carl S. Cline of 84 East Union street, day jailor at the Ulster county court house, is in the Kingston Hospital where he underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis Sunday morning.

Police Conference Praises Governor

Governor Thomas E. Dewey was congratulated for his recommendation to the State Legislature for a $570,000 increase to State Troopers in a letter issued by John E. Carton, president of the Police Conference of the State of New York, representing 40,000 police in 154 cities, towns and villages.

At the same time, Carton urged the governor to also recommend to the Legislature the need for adopting a bill for a uniform five-day work-week for police in localities throughout the state.

A bill has been introduced by Assemblyman Julius Volker, of Erie county, and Senator Seymour Halpern, Queens county, both Republicans, for a 40-hour week. The Assembly passed similar legislation for the past two sessions but the Senate failed to act.

Two dozen communities in the state have since been granted a 40-hour week through local statute, Carton announced.

Burned Matches Found

Several burned matches found by a board of education employee in School No. 5 this morning led to an investigation by police and fire department officials, according to a police report at 7:05 a. m. School No. 5 is the school that experienced costly damage from an incendiary blaze on May 9, 1951, when two rooms were badly damaged and woodwork through the building was marred by the heat.

C. J. Messinger Dies; Served as Ward Supervisor

CHARLES J. MESSINGER

Charles J. Messinger, Republican supervisor for the 9th Ward in the city of Kingston, died late Saturday evening after a lengthy illness. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lena Gregory Messinger; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Johnson; two grandsons, James and John Johnson, and one great granddaughter, all of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. L. L. Stevens of St. Petersburg, Florida, and a brother, Frederick Messinger of Briarcliff, N. Y.

Always interested in politics, Mr. Messinger was a staunch Republican and was serving his third term as supervisor, having been re-elected to the office at the November election. For many years he was night watchman in the downtown section of the city and worked in close cooperation with the Kingston police department in curbing crime and lawlessness in that area. For the past few years he has been bank guard at the Kingston Savings Bank at 273 Wall street where by his friendly and genial disposition he continued to add to his many friends in all sections of the city.

In the death of Mr. Messinger the city has lost a very loyal and civic-minded citizen, a sound believer in sound city and county government, a dependable law enforcement officer and a devoted friend to many of the more unfortunate people of this community.

Mr. Messinger was a member of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and the Rev. David C. Gaise will officiate at the funeral service to be conducted at 3:15 p. m. Wednesday at the family residence, 59 Andrews street. Relatives and friends are invited to attend and callers will be welcomed to pay their respects to Mr. Messinger and his family at any time. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrose Cemetery.

Assault Charged

Wesley Davis, 33, and his wife Annie Davis, 26, Clintondale, were arrested by state police from the Kingston station on Sunday morning on a warrant which charged assault, second degree. The warrant was sworn out in Wappingers Falls and the local officers turned the couple over to the Wappingers Falls police department.

Russian Underground Arrests 50 Officers

Berlin, Jan. 28 (AP)—A Russian underground reported today Soviet secret police swooped down on a Red army officers' drinking party in East Germany and arrested more than 50 officers after toasts reached a "down with Stalin" stage.

The "Russian Information Agency," composed of refugees from the Soviet Union now in West Germany, said the incident happened in Rathenow, 40 miles west of Berlin.

The report said the officers gathered in a casino to celebrate the Bolshevik revolution anniversary Nov. 7. After food and drink, shouts of "down with Stalin" were heard. Pistol shots followed and Soviet secret police surrounded the hall. Fifty or more officers were arrested and taken away. Details of the incident leaked to the west recently through a Red army deserter.

Disasters Are Probed

Newark, N. J., Jan. 28 (AP)—A five-man House subcommittee meets here today for an on-the-spot probe of Newark airport and two recent air disasters in nearby Elizabeth. The group, headed by Rep. Charles A. Wolcott of Camden, joins officials of the civil aeronautics board already investigating the crashes which occurred less than six weeks apart, killing a total of 87 persons.

State Almost Ends Its Bonus Efforts

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—In four years, the state bonus bureau has completed 93 percent of its job by paying out $338,421,662 to 1,504,815 veterans of World War 2 and to the next-of-kin of 39,279 deceased servicemen.

Since it issued the first check in January, 1948, the bureau reported yesterday, 1,591,340 applications have been received and 1,544,094 approved. The average payment totaled $219.17.

The bureau noted that 93 percent of the estimated 1,700,000 New York veterans had been paid. No deadline has been set for filing of applications.

Late Bulletin

Cairo, Jan. 28 (AP)—Egypt's new "strong man" premier, given the helm of government by King Farouk in the wake of wild anti-western rioting, announced tonight he had won the support of four political parties, including the powerful WAFD.

Wafdist government headed by Mustapha Nahas Pasha was ousted last night.

Premier Ali Maher Pasha, an Independent, was sworn into office in a shift viewed by some western observers as a step which might ease the bloody dispute between Britain and Egypt.

Rare Disease Reported

West Hartford, Conn., Jan. 28 (AP)—A state health official says that a rare disease which has occurred in only two other cities in the world has made its appearance here. Dr. James C. Hart, chief of the State Bureau of Disease prevention, described it as rickettsial pox, a typhus-spotted fever type, and is carried by mites which use a mouse as host. Seven persons, all residents of a single apartment structure here, have had the disease and are recovering from it, says Dr. Hart, who adds that while the disease is infectious, it is not contagious nor is it a killer.

Philanthropy Climbs

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—American philanthropic gifts and bequests totaled more than 4 1/2 billion dollars in 1951, a New York firm of fund-raising consultants estimates. The John Price Jones Company, Inc., said last night that philanthropy continued an upward trend last year. The company said its estimate was based on its 21st annual study of publicly announced gifts and requests in ten big cities.

Churchill Reaches England

Southampton, England, Jan. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill came home today from his American trip and said "I'm sure it's done good." It's freshened up many friendships and made new ones," he told about 100 newsmen gathered in the drawing room of the giant liner Queen Mary. The prime minister, just recovering from a cold, said of his visit to Washington, "I've never had such a warm welcome, not even in wartime."

Paratroopers Grounded

Camp Drum, N. Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—Paratroopers getting in trim for "Exercise Snowfall" were grounded today by the weather. Two mass jumps by 1,000 troopers of the 82nd Airborne Division scheduled for today were called off because of forecasts of snow and low visibility. Two drops slated for tomorrow at this winter maneuver headquarters will be made, if weather is favorable.

Winchell Is Ill

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—Doctors planned further tests today for Broadway columnist Walter Winchell, who said he has been ordered to "drop everything" for at least a month. Winchell announced during his broadcast last night that he had been ordered to rest and later said the decision followed an examination by his physician and a heart specialist.

Bounces to His Feet

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Seventy-year-old Albert Magee, bouncing on his bed last night, went right out a nearby fifth-story window and bounced right up when he hit the ground and walked away. Police said he landed on a rain-softened patch of dirt and apparently suffered no injuries.

Easter Seal

Editor, The Freeman:
I should like to write further in reference to the N. Y. State Association for Crippled Children.
It was founded by the Rotary Clubs of the state in 1922 and for 25 years was supported by voluntary contributions of Rotarians. During the first 25 years of its existence, the association was primarily concerned with legislation for the welfare of our crippled children. As a result, N. Y. state now has some of the most humane laws relative to the care of the handicapped.
In 1947, the association became affiliated with the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and then conducted its first Easter Seal Appeal. Since then, the Easter Seal Appeal has been an annual affair. This year it will be conducted during the month of March or, in other words, during

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—The stock market turned to a mixture of gains and losses today after a fairly brisk and encouraging opening.

Price changes were mostly in fractions and in many cases backed away from their early gains during mid-session trading.

Activity remained fairly good but the volume was not up to its opening pace.

Aircraft stocks made up the strongest group in the market with Douglas ahead better than a point at times and Boeing, United Aircraft and Lockheed up fractions.

Running contrary to the general trend was General Tire and Rubber, which opened on sale of a block of 6,000 shares and at times moved ahead better than three points.

Directors of General Tire have proposed a two-to-one split of common and have placed the stock on a $4 annual basis.

Among the wider advances were Texas Gulf Sulphur (ahead three points at one time) and

Fire Hits Deadwood

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 28 (AP)—Fire raged down Main street of this historic mining town today, destroyed a half-block of business buildings before firemen could bring it under control. Destroyed were a four-story building that housed the city hall, a jewelry manufacturing company, and a radio station's studios; a theatre and several small buildings. There were no reports of injuries. Firemen estimated loss at $400,000. It was the second disastrous fire in two months in Deadwood. The fire started in the Deadwood Theatre, built in 1905 on the site of a famous frontier opera house.

Decision Is Set Aside

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Supreme Court today set aside, at least temporarily, a lower court decision upholding segregation of white and Negro school children in South Carolina. The decision—given by a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Charleston, S. C.—was appealed directly to the high tribunal by lawyers for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. By a 7-2 vote the Supreme Court vacated the decision on the ground that the special court had not determined finally all the issues before it.

General Strike Ends

Tunis, Tunisia, Jan. 28 (AP)—A general strike in the Arab quarters of Tunisia, in effect since Jan. 18, was ended today on orders of the Nationalist Neo-Destour party. The Neo-Destour party announced the strike would be resumed for one day on Friday. It said this movement would be "supported throughout the Arab world." In the face of a great show of French force, quiet seemed almost restored to the country where riots raged last week.

K. of C. Communion

The annual Corporate Communion and Breakfast of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, has been set for Passion Sunday, March 30. W. Kenneth Geary is serving as general chairman. A committee consisting of Past Grand Knight James V. Geary, Philip F. McDonald, and William E. Polk is considering choice of a speaker. Publicity for the event is under the direction of Victory A. Mahoney.

Kennedy Jewels Stolen

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Thieves made off with more than $33,000 worth of jewels belonging to 23-year-old Jean Kennedy last night. It was the third time in six years that jewel thieves got away with loot belonging to a daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former U. S. ambassador to Britain. Miss Kennedy told police the jewels, insured for $33,975, were taken from a Cadillac convertible belonging to her brother, Robert.

Fire Mars Carnival

Graz, Austria, Jan. 28 (AP)—Fire broke out here early this morning at the fire brigade's annual carnival ball. The flames destroyed the hall, where dancing had just come to an end.

The Angel Falls in Eastern Venezuela has a total drop of 3,212 feet.

Ask NATO Membership

Paris, Jan. 28 (AP)—The West Germans say they will not furnish troops for Western defenses unless they are allowed in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Their surprise demand for NATO membership, made last night at a meeting of West European foreign ministers, interrupted the six-nation talks on a unified European army. The snag came as the European diplomatic chiefs announced agreement on broad outlines and fundamental principles of a one-uniform army to function within the North Atlantic setup.

Cantor's 60th Birthday

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Comedian Eddie Cantor, who will celebrate his 60th birthday next Thursday, was cited today for "his service to humanitarian causes" by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri. Police Conference Praises Governor

Governor Thomas E. Dewey was congratulated for his recommendation to the State Legislature for a $570.00 increase to State Troopers in a letter issued by John E. Carton, president of the Police Conference of the State of New York, representing 40,000 police in 154 cities, towns and villages.

At the same time, Carton urged the governor to also recommend to the Legislature the need for adopting a bill for a uniform five-day work-week for police in localities throughout the state.

A bill has been introduced by Assemblyman Julius Volker, of Erie county, and Senator Seymour Halpern, Queens county, both Republicans, for a 40-hour week. The Assembly passed similar legislation for the past two sessions but the Senate failed to act.

Two dozen communities in the state have since been granted a 40-hour week through local statute, Carton announced.

Memorial
In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Annabell Every, who departed this life ten years ago today, January 28, 1942.

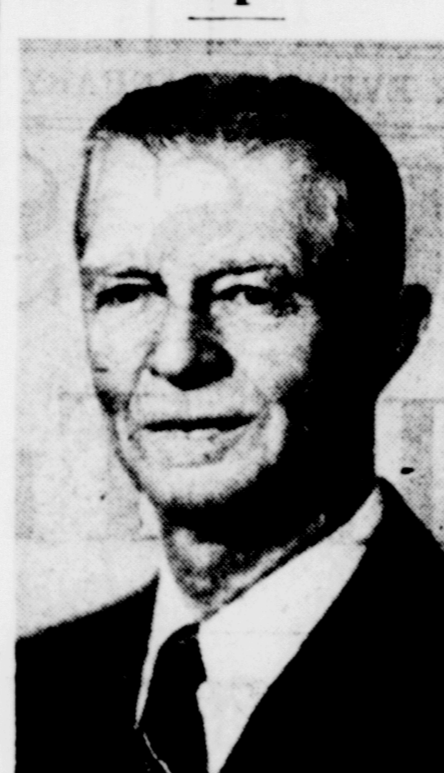

Mother dear, I can see your smile you always wore.

And hear your voice and it comforts me so.

You were so sweet, kind and true. I'm thankful to God for having had a mother like you.

MRS. VERNON HUSTON

C. J. Messinger Dies; Served as Ward Supervisor

CHARLES J. MESSINGER

Charles J. Messinger, Republican supervisor for the 9th Ward in the city of Kingston, died late Saturday evening after a lengthy illness. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lena Gregory Messinger; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Johnson; two grandsons, James and John Johnson, and one great granddaughter, all of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. L. L. Stevens of St. Petersburg, Florida; and a brother, Frederick Messinger of Briarcliff, N. Y.

Always interested in politics, Mr. Messinger was a staunch Republican and was serving his third term as supervisor, having been re-elected to the office at the November election. For many years he was night watchman in the downtown section of the city and worked in close cooperation with the Kingston police department in curbing crime and lawlessness in that area. For the past few years he has been bank guard at the Kingston Savings Bank at 273 Water street where by his friendly and genial disposition he continued to add to his many friends in all sections of the city.

In the death of Mr. Messinger the city has lost a very loyal and civic-minded citizen, a sound believer in sound city and county government, a dependable law enforcement officer and a devoted friend to many of the more unfortunate people of this community.

Mr. Messinger was a member of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and the Rev. David C. Gaise will officiate at the funeral service to be conducted at 3:15 p. m. Wednesday at the family residence, 59 Andrew street. Relatives and friends are invited to attend and callers will be welcome to pay their respects to Mr. Messinger and his family at any time. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

Russian Underground Arrests 50 Officers

Berlin, Jan. 28 (AP)—A Russian underground reported today Soviet secret police swooped down on a Red army officers' drinking party in East Germany and arrested more than 50 officers after toasts were made "down with Stalin" stage.

The "Russian Information Agency," composed of refugees from the Soviet Union now in West Germany, said the incident happened in Rathenow, 40 miles west of Berlin.

The report said the officers gathered in a casino to celebrate the Bolshevik revolution anniversary Nov. 7. After food and drink, shouts of "down with Stalin" were heard. Pistol shots followed and Soviet secret police surrounded the hall. Fifty or more officers were arrested and taken away. Details of the incident leaked to the west recently through a Red army deserter.

Two Die in Fire

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—A blaze from gasoline thrown on a stove Saturday night left a father and four small children burned, two fatally—but the fire vanished almost without a trace. Dead were Eugene Bixby, 2, and Ruth Ann Bixby, 3. Their father, Frederick Bixby, 42, and his two-months-old son, Robert Samuel, were in critical condition. Frederick, Jr., 4, another son was given "a fair chance" to live. None had suffered unusually serious outside burns. But all doctors said, apparently had inhaled flames in the flash fire.

Arrives in Paris

Paris, Jan. 28 (AP)—William Draper, newly-appointed U. S. aid coordinator in Europe, arrived in Paris today. He told reporters his first job would be to prepare for the North Atlantic Council meeting to be held at Lisbon next month. Draper went to see General Dwight D. Eisenhower at supreme European headquarters this afternoon.

Disasters Are Probed

Newark, N. J., Jan. 28 (AP)—A five-man House subcommittee meets here today for an on-the-spot probe of Newark airport and two recent air disasters in nearby Elizabeth. The group, headed by Rep. Charles W. Wolcott of Camden, joins officials of the civil aeronautics board already investigating the crashes which occurred less than six weeks apart, killing a total of 87 persons.

State Almost Ends Its Bonus Efforts

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—In four years, the state bonus bureau has completed 93 percent of its job by paying out $338,421,662 to 1,504,815 veterans of World War 2 and to the next-of-kin of 39,279 deceased servicemen.

Since it issued the first check in January, 1948, the bureau reported yesterday, 1,591,340 applications have been received and 1,544,094 approved. The average payment totaled $219.17.

The bureau noted that 93 percent of the estimated 1,700,000 New York veterans had been paid. No deadline has been set for filing of applications.

Late Bulletin

Cairo, Jan. 28 (AP)—Egypt's new "strong man" premier, given the helm of government by King Farouk in the wake of wild anti-western rioting, announced tonight he had won the support of four political parties, including the powerful WAFD.

Wafdist government headed by Mustafa Nahas Pasha was ousted last night.

The new government, headed by Premier Aly Maher Pasha, an Independent, was sworn into office in a shift viewed by some western observers as a step which might ease the bloody dispute between Britain and Egypt.

Rare Disease Reported

West Hartford, Conn., Jan. 28 (AP)—A state health official says that a rare disease which has occurred in only two other cities in the world has made its appearance here. Dr. James C. Hall, chief of the State Bureau of Disease prevention, described it as rickettsial pox, a typhus-spotted fever type, and is carried by mites which use a mouse as host. Seven persons, all residents of a single apartment structure here, have had the disease and are recovering from it, says Dr. Hall, who adds that while the disease is infectious it is not contagious nor is it a killer.

Philanthropy Climbs

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—American philanthropic gifts and bequests totaled more than 4 1/2 billion dollars in 1951, a New York firm of fund-raising consultants estimates. The John Price Jones Company, Inc., said last night that philanthropy continued an upward trend last year. The company said its estimate was based on its 21st annual study of publicly announced gifts and requests in ten big cities.

Churchill Reaches England

Southampton, England, Jan. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill came home today from his American trip and said "I'm sure it's done good." It's freshened up many friendships and made new ones," he told about 100 newsmen gathered in the drawing room of the grand liner Queen Mary. The prime minister, just recovering from a cold, said of his visit to Washington, "I've never had such a warm welcome, not even in wartime."

Paratroopers Grounded

Camp Drum, N. Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—Paratroopers getting in trim for "Exercise Snowfall" were grounded today by the weather. Two mass jumps by 1,000 troopers of the 11th Airborne Division scheduled for today were called off because of forecasts of snow and low visibility. Two drops later said tomorrow at this winter maneuver headquarters will be made, if weather is favorable.

Winchell Is Ill

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—Doctors planned further tests today for Broadway columnist Walter Winchell, who said he has been ordered to "drop everything" for at least a month. Winchell announced during his broadcast last night that he had been ordered to rest. He later said the decision followed an examination by his physician and a heart specialist.

Bounces to His Feet

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Seven-year-old Albert Magee, bouncing on his bed last night, went right out a nearby fifth-story window—and bounced right up when he hit the ground and walked away. Police said he landed on a rain-softened patch of dirt and apparently suffered no injuries.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—The stock market turned to a mixture of gains and losses today after a fairly brisk and encouraging opening.

Price changes were mostly in fractions and in many cases backed away from their early gains during mid-session trading.

Activity remained fairly good but the volume was not up to its opening pace.

Aircraft stocks made up the strongest group in the market with Douglas ahead better than a point at times and Boeing, United Aircraft and Lockheed up fractions.

Running contrary to the general trend was General Tire and Rubber, which opened on sale of a block of 6,000 shares and at times moved ahead better than three points.

Directors of General Tire have proposed a two-for-one split of common and have placed the stock on a $4 annual basis.

Among the wider advances were Texas Gulf Sulphur (ahead three points at one time) and

Fire Hits Deadwood

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 28 (AP)—Fire raged down Main street of this historic mining town today, destroyed a half-block of business buildings before firemen could bring it under control. Destroyed were a four-story building that housed the city hall, a jewelry manufacturing company, and a radio station's studios; a theatre and several small buildings. There were no reports of injuries. Firemen estimated loss at $400,000. It was the second disastrous fire in two months in Deadwood. The fire started in Deadwood Theatre, built in 1905 on the site of a famous frontier opera house.

Decision Is Set Aside

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Supreme Court today set aside, at least temporarily, a lower court decision upholding segregation of white and Negro school children in South Carolina. The decision—given by a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Charleston, S. C.—was appealed directly to the high tribunal by lawyers for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. By a 7-2 vote the Supreme Court vacated the decision on the ground that the special court had not determined finally all the issues before it.

General Strike Ends

Tunis, Tunisia, Jan. 28 (AP)—A general strike in the Arab quarters of Tunisia, in effect since Jan. 18, was ended today on orders of the Nationalist Neo-Destour party. The Neo-Destour party announced the strike would be resumed for one day on Friday. It said this movement would be "supported throughout the Arab world." In the face of a great show of French force, quiet seemed almost restored to the country where riots raged last week.

Governor Dewey picked Christenberry as commission head last Sept. 28 and directed him to clean up the sport.

Will Clean Up or Quit

Christenberry has said he will run "the criminal seum" out of boxing or quit as chairman.

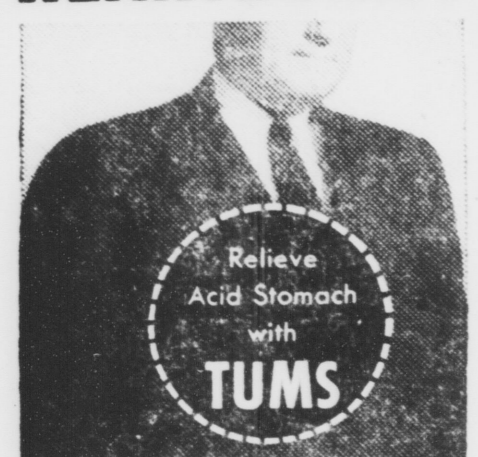

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, Queens Democrat, introduced a bill two weeks ago to outlaw professional boxing and wrestling. He contended it was "apparent the boxing commission can't control the hoodlums who are running the game." Fitzgerald later said he had received telephone threats against his life and the lives of his wife and daughters.

In another bill submitted last week, the Senator proposed an investigation of boxing. He urged appointment of a 15-member commission to determine "why people of undesirable character and reputation have been permitted to be licensed as officials, seconds, trainers, matchmakers and promoters."

Jugful of Kerosene Stolen From Garage

Two men stole two glass jugful of kerosene from a drum in his garage about 7:50 p. m. Sunday. Donald Tubby of 11 Deyo street reported to police.

Tubby said he saw the two men running from the garage when he went outside to investigate a noise. Inside the garage he found a siphon hose in the oil drum.

Patrolmen James Harbeck and Harold DeGraff searched the area after Tubby notified police, but no trace of the men was found, police said.

Strong Man Takes

ent circumstances unite our efforts for the benefit of Egypt."

Political circles said it would be difficult, and perhaps impossible, for Maher Pasha—an independent—to govern while the lower house, the chamber of deputies, is more than 80 per cent Wafdist. They said history showed the Wafdist usually were more dynamic and active when out of power than while in office. But they added that Maher's pledge to continue a fight for "national aspirations" might gain Wafdist support.

The new premier in a radio address to the nation pledged himself to fulfill the "independent unity of the Nile valley"—to get the British out—and to maintain "stability, security and peace."

Pro-British Sympathies

Maher Pasha, 69, before World War 2 expressed pro-British sympathies, but during the war was interned at British insistence because he had talks with Britain's Italian enemies. In recent months, however, his public statements have indicated he advocates a pro-western policy.

With martial law still in effect throughout Egypt, police rounded up ringleaders in the Saturday rioting and others suspected of fomenting the violence. A spokesman said 300 had been arrested.

A smoke pall still hung over the city, where 150 fires were set by the mobs, destroying Egyptian as well as foreign-owned property.

British Cabinet Meets

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—The British cabinet met in emergency session today to study ways of halting a further deterioration of British-Egyptian relations.

Ministers reviewed the entire situation in the light of the Cairo rioting and the change of government in Egypt. Latest reports on the rioting were received from Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador in Cairo.

Earlier, morning newspapers here called on British authorities to remain firm in the Suez Canal Zone and continue to meet force with force.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to make a full statement on the Egyptian crisis soon after Parliament reconvenes tomorrow.

Reported Premier

Unofficial Cairo reports said Jan. 27 that Aly Maher Pasha (above) has been appointed Egyptian Premier by King Farouk I, who has dismissed Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha and his entire Wafdist Party cabinet.

Ambassador to Poland

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 28 (AP)—British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd left here today en route to a new post as ambassador to Poland. He is carrying with him a bedside appeal from Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh for Britain to make a new try at settling the long Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. George H. Middleton took over as charge d'affaires pending the arrival of a new ambassador. Mossadegh handed his new, last-minute message to Shepherd when he called on the departing premier yesterday to say farewell.

British divisions, it would be difficult to find 10 battle-worthy divisions in the western European army today," Mr. Hoover said.

He said a "cause of western European inertia is its attitude as to the risk of Communist invasion." He added that in Europe there is "no such public alarm as has been fanned up in the United States."

An inquiry of European sources, Mr. Hoover said, showed "there was little public belief that there was risk of a Russian invasion in the near future."

Vetoed Victory in Korea

Turning to Asia, Mr. Hoover said that in the last year "the United Nations vetoed General MacArthur's policies of destroying the Chinese air sanctuary in Manchuria and the employment of Chiang Kai-shek's armies to save American lives."

"Accordingly," he added, "we denied ourselves victory."

Mr. Hoover deplored the prolonged truce talks and said "in this negotiation we have retreated from the original purpose of unity and independence for Korea to an appeasement idea of a division of Korea about where it was before."

The truce talks, he continued, have allowed the Chinese Reds to build up "a great air force."

From this experience, Mr. Hoover said, it has been "certainly demonstrated that we should

In an appraisal of domestic conditions in the past year, Mr. Hoover said the United States suffers "from the blight of inflation and confiscatory taxes."

He said the inflation-tax pressures are welcomed by some men because "these forces drive to socialize the income of our people."

With these experiences in mind, Mr. Hoover said, Congress "should again re-examine our situation."

Wicks Says

tee and the Senate are expected to confirm his appointment.

Governor Dewey picked Christenberry as commission head last Sept. 28 and directed him to clean up the sport.

Will Clean Up or Quit

Christenberry has said he will run "the criminal scum" out of boxing or quit as chairman.

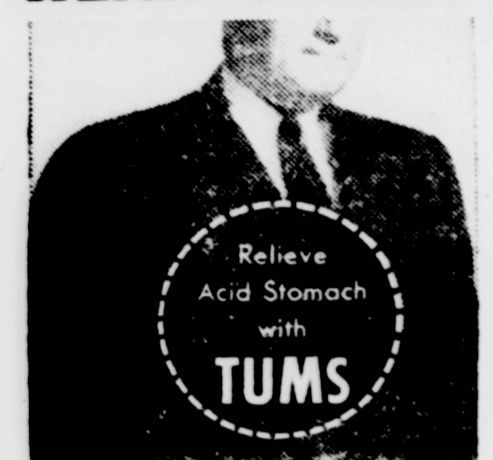

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, Queens Democrat, introduced a bill two weeks ago to outlaw professional boxing and wrestling. He contended it was "apparent the boxing commission can't control the hoodlums who are running the game." Fitzgerald later said he had received telephone threats against his life and the lives of his wife and daughters.

In another bill submitted last week, the Senator proposed an investigation of boxing. He urged appointment of a 15-member commission to determine "why people of undesirable character and reputation have been permitted to be licensed as officials, seconds, trainers, matchmakers and promoters."

Jugs-full of Kerosene Stolen From Garage

Two men stole two glass jugs-full of kerosene from a drum in his garage about 7:50 p. m. Sunday. Donald Tubby of 11 Deyo street reported to police.

Tubby said he saw the two men running from the garage when he went outside to investigate a noise. Inside the garage he found a syphon hose in the oil drum.

Patrolmen James Harbeck and Harold DeGraff searched the area after Tubby notified police, but no trace of the men was found, police said.

ent circumstances unite our efforts for the benefit of Egypt."

Political circles said it would be difficult, and perhaps impossible, for Maher Pasha—an independent—to govern while the lower house, the chamber of deputies, is more than 80 per cent Wafdist. They said history showed the Wafdist usually were more dynamic and active when out of power than while in office. But they added that Maher's pledge to continue a fight for "national aspirations" might gain Wafdist support.

The new premier in a radio address to the nation pledged himself to fulfill the "independent unity of the Nile valley"—to get the British out—and to maintain "stability, security and peace."

Pro-British Sympathies
Maher Pasha, 69, before World War 2 expressed pro-British sympathies, but during the war was interned at British insistence because he had talks with Britain's Italian enemies. In recent months, however, his public statements have indicated he advocates a pro-western policy.

With martial law still in effect throughout Egypt, police rounded up ringleaders in the Saturday rioting and others suspected of fomenting the violence. A spokesman said 300 had been arrested. A smoke pall still hung over the city, where 150 fires were set by the mobs, destroying Egyptian as well as foreign-owned property.

British Cabinet Meets

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—The British cabinet met in emergency session today to study ways of halting a further deterioration of British-Egyptian relations.

Ministers reviewed the entire situation in the light of the Cairo rioting and the change of government in Egypt. Latest reports on the rioting were received from Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador in Cairo.

Earlier, morning newspapers here called on British authorities to remain firm in the Suez Canal Zone and continue to meet force with force.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to make a full statement on the Egyptian crisis soon after Parliament reconvenes tomorrow.

Reported Premier Hoover Says

Unofficial Cairo reports said Jan. 27 that Aly Maher Pasha (above) has been appointed Egyptian Premier by King Farouk I, who has dismissed Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha and his entire Wafdist Party cabinet.

Ambassador to Poland

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 28 (AP)—British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd left here today en route to a new post as ambassador to Poland. He is carrying with him a bedside appeal from Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh for Britain to make a new try at settling the long Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. George H. Middleton took over as charge d'affaires pending the arrival of a new ambassador. Mossadegh handed his new, last-minute message to Shepherd when he called on the aged premier yesterday to say farewell.

Fine Painting Purchased

Winnipeg, Man. (AP)—A painting considered one of the most important works by the British artist Sir William Russell Flint has been purchased by Joseph Harris of Winnipeg. Entitled "The Beach," it portrays a group of bathers at St. Male, the French seaside resort.

British divisions, it would be difficult to find 10 battle-worthy divisions in the western European army today," Mr. Hoover said.

He said a "cause of western European inertia is its attitude as to the risk of Communist invasion." He added that in Europe there is "no such public alarm as has been fanned up in the United States."

An inquiry of European sources, Mr. Hoover said, showed "there was little public belief that there was risk of a Russian invasion in the near future."

Vetoed Victory in Korea

Turning to Asia, Mr. Hoover said that in the last year "the United Nations vetoed General MacArthur's policies of destroying the Chinese air sanctuary in Manchuria and the employment of Chiang Kaishek's armies to save American lives."

"Accordingly," he added, "we denied ourselves victory."

Mr. Hoover deplored the prolonged truce talks and said "in this negotiation we have retreated from the original purpose of unity and independence for Korea to an appeasement idea of a division of Korea about where it was before."

The truce talks, he continued, have allowed the Chinese Reds to build up "a great air force."

From this experience, Mr. Hoover said, it has been "certainly demonstrated that we should

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 28, 1952

ANNIVERSARY MEMBERSHIP

Funds to support Kingston's 300th Anniversary Celebration will be raised in the form of membership in the anniversary incorporation and everyone will be given the opportunity of securing a membership. The drive is now underway and the memberships will range from two dollars to three hundred dollars.

It is unnecessary to call attention to the fact that money is required to stage a program in conjunction with the observance, but a reminder that this is our anniversary and that we should support it enthusiastically and generously is appropriate.

The executive committee will adjust the details of the program in accordance with the amount of financial support given by the citizens of the city. Therefore, the extent and adequacy of the program will be determined by the degree of financial support given by the people of the community.

President Stanley J. Matthews expresses his appreciation for the alacrity of the response by organizations and individuals. It is anticipated that this spirit and enthusiasm will continue until the celebration is brought to a very successful conclusion.

FORGOTTEN HEROINE

A great deal of credit for the amazing progress which has been made in transportation can be given to people who performed stunts often regarded as merely spectacular. The skippers of the old clipper ships who sought to make new records sailing around the Horn and the barnstorming pilots who flew the first planes "by the seat of their pants" had something in common; both helped to make their countrymen aware of speed. In 1890 an adventurous woman writer for the New York World, Nelly Bly, set out to establish the first record for circling the world. In Jules Verne's romance "Around the World in Eighty Days," the fictional hero, Phineas Fogg, circled the globe in eighty days. Nelly Bly did it in seventy-two and won the adulation of hero-worshipping crowds.

Few people remember the name of Nelly Bly today. Men have circled the globe in fast planes in four or five days. Other heroines have captured the public imagination with feats far more spectacular than hers. Yet it is doubtful whether any crowds have been more awed by the accomplishments of a woman than were the people who hailed Nelly Bly at the end of her pioneer journey.

When a child playing in another room is quieter than a whisper the experienced parent knows that a very noisy repercussion may be in the stage of development.

WOMEN IN UNIFORM

As the armed forces try to work out their manpower problems, they are giving increased attention to a source of help which might not always be thought of as covered by the term "manpower"—the skills and abilities of women. Undersecretary Francis P. Whitehair of the Navy said in a recent address that the women's services make up one of the Navy's greatest assets.

The armed forces have long had women nurses for their medical branches, and their service has often been illustrious. Women did a few other military jobs in the First World War, and in the Second War they were recruited for a wide variety of work in all the services. The experiment proved so successful that women's branches have been made permanent, and now the services are earnestly seeking to bring in more women and to number more and more standard military jobs among their duties. Apparently the leaders of our armed forces have no intention, from now on, of overlooking the value of women in uniform.

Peddlers may wonder what they did to incur court rulings that door-to-door selling may be a violation of home privacy. Maybe the doorbell rang too many times while the judge was taking a bath.

The oil for the wheels of progress is usually provided by those who burn it at midnight.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE PRESIDENCY

The office of President has changed so radically that a generation has grown up which seems to have lost altogether the sense of a division of our government into three independent branches, with checks and balances, as carefully provided in the Constitution.

This is startlingly interesting because it shows how swiftly the attitude of a nation can change. When Mr. Roosevelt demanded "blank check" appropriations from Congress, and got them, he weakened one of the most important Congressional functions, namely, control of the money of the nation. Mr. Roosevelt made the budget, and Congress blindly approved on the theory that there was a more or less constant emergency. Two wars and a depression have left their impression upon the upcoming generations who have not been grounded in the history, nature and purport of our constitutional system.

The Presidency has come to have an exaggerated significance in the minds of many Americans combining the functions of an elected prime minister and an hereditary king. The assumption seems to be that the President "leads" the nation, although the leadership principle was so repugnant to the founders of this country that the Constitution set up checks upon his authority, many of which can have no other explanation than an unwillingness to extend to any man vast and unrestrained powers.

Most Presidents have accepted constitutional restraints as the rule of the road; a few, like Andrew Jackson and perhaps Abraham Lincoln, found the restraints difficult in the circumstance of their times. Franklin D. Roosevelt's temperament was such that he brooked little interference, and his political ingenuity was such that he evolved procedures to subordinate both Congress and the courts to his will.

However, he never altogether succeeded. Harry Truman, son of Roosevelt's astuteness, nor does he command equal respect, with the result that he has been in a constant quarrel with Congress, including the members of his own party.

Nevertheless, the power and authority of the Presidency have grown. If the respect for the incumbent is not exalted, at any rate, it is assumed that his office gives him an authority which often is not his at all, but rightly belongs to Congress or the judiciary.

The most glaring example of Mr. Truman's extra-constitutional activity is, of course, the frightful and costly Korean War. A study of the time-table of the first 48 hours of our participation in that situation will show that the United States initiated the action taken and that therefore the United Nations "police action" was an after-thought.

This is only important because, according to the Constitution, Congress alone is authorized to decide whether the United States goes to war or not. Congress, in the Truman pattern, gives its approval by voting funds. Nothing in the Constitution authorizes this devious procedure.

We may become involved in wars in Burma, Malaya, French Indochina, Iran and Turkey in the near future without an act of Congress despite the Constitution.

Similarly, at Toheran and Yalta, decisions were taken of the broadest historic import, altering the map of the world, rearranging the nationalities of millions of human beings, placing upon the American people huge obligations and liabilities; yet none of it was done by normal Constitutional means. No treaties were prepared which were duly ratified by the Senate, as is provided for in the Constitution.

All this was taken in the Presidential stride, with little protests by the people who had grown accustomed to a less restrained Presidency, which could, in time, become an unrestrained Presidency.

Another example of the flouting of Congress was the appointment of Dr. Philip Jessup to his important position on the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly session in Paris after the Senate had rejected him for the post. A technicality made a recess appointment possible, but the intent of the senatorial action was so clear that a restrained President would not have employed it.

The American people can have any kind of government they choose, and the Constitution provides means of alterations, even to the extent of abolishing the Constitution itself. The processes are orderly, to accomplish such changes by subtle, if not revolutionary, and confusing. Much is being accomplished these days by propaganda that should be done by legislation. The peril is that propaganda may prevail and the legislature become a rump. Perhaps one issue in the present campaign might be the Constitution itself, and the role of the Presidency in the American system.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DEFENSE MECHANISM

Patients and physicians are now realizing that the brain controls the body, but that the body controls the brain at times they are not so willing to admit. As a matter of fact, the brain and body are one and so any part of the brain can affect body reactions and any part of the body can affect the brain and its emotional reactions.

Parents know that at times their youngster may feign illness because he doesn't want to go to school for some reason; at other times when really sick and receiving attention from everybody, he will continue to complain of symptoms after he is completely well. It would seem that many of these children, when grown up, continue to use real or feigned illness as a "defense mechanism" to avoid responsibility.

In New York State Medical Journal, Dr. Alfred Blazer, New York City, states that the commonest neurotic personality of our time uses this defense mechanism as his way of life. Unlike the normal person, he does not meet life in a constructive manner. He holds on to his illness and gets well too slowly or refuses to recognize that he is getting well, because illness is his main asset in coping with people, situations and his attitude toward himself. Such a person is not aware of this weakness or inadequacy in his make-up. He is not a malingering who wants consciously to be ill for certain gains.

All overnervous or neurotic, as well as normal persons, want emotional security and satisfaction. If, when young, they have been unable to obtain security and satisfaction in the ordinary or usual ways, they develop methods of obtaining them by "enjoying poor health."

In the treatment of the psychosomatic (mind and emotions controlling body actions), Dr. Blazer states that successful treatment depends upon the relation which the psychiatrist or other physician or technician permits the patient to have with him. "With the psychiatrist or other helper in treatment, the patient does not have to be a submissive worm or a destructive steamroller. He can learn to express his resentment when necessary and later to the rest of the world."

The psychiatrist or other therapist (one giving treatment) must feel the patient's mood and respond to it in a healing way. By careful examination and questioning, the patient learns to see himself as he really is, free of organic disease—and therefore in fit condition to face his responsibilities in life.

Neurosis

Believing you have an illness when none actually exists is a neurosis and is becoming increasingly common these days. Send today for Dr. Barton's interesting booklet on this subject entitled "Neurosis," enclosing 25 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

A Grave Responsibility

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Final results of the Merry-Go-Round post-card poll on the Republican candidates are as follows: General Eisenhower 49 per cent; Senator Taft of Ohio 35.6 per cent; Governor Warren of California 7.5 per cent; and General MacArthur 6.9 per cent.

A total of some 200,000 votes was received from every state in the union, and significantly the ratio of voting remained almost constant throughout the poll.

Taft's strength, for instance, fluctuated only between 37 and 35.5 per cent; Eisenhower's strength between 48.5 and 49.6 per cent.

There was also little variation between the MacArthur and Warren vote, despite the fact that during the poll, General MacArthur made it clear he was not a candidate.

Stassen announced his candidacy during the middle of the poll, but his votes did not pick up as a result, and remained so few that they were not recorded.

Taft's strength, according to the Merry-Go-Round survey, is at its peak in the midwest, while Eisenhower's strength is greatest in New England, the south and far west.

States where Taft leads are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Idaho, Maryland, North and South Dakota and Kentucky.

One surprising aspect of the poll was that Taft, though trailing in most southern states, ran strong in Kentucky with a 61.4 to 33.2 per cent vote over Eisenhower. This was greater strength than in Taft's home state, Ohio.

Also interesting was the fact that the Merry-Go-Round poll in New Hampshire gave Eisenhower a strength of 57.8 per cent against Taft's 29.5 per cent, which runs counter to the poll taken by the Manchester Union-Leader, which showed MacArthur first, Taft second, and Eisenhower a poor third.

The Merry-Go-Round poll in New Hampshire gave MacArthur 11.4 per cent. New Hampshire will be first state to stage a primary.

Although Eisenhower leads have not entered him in Wisconsin on the theory that Taft has the edge, the Merry-Go-Round poll showed the leading Taft in that state by 41 to 36.

The states where Eisenhower ran strongest were the extremes of the nation in size—Texas with a vote of 71 per cent and Rhode Island with a vote of 76 per cent.

Here are the final results of Taft and Eisenhower strength, state-by-state, in percentages: Alabama—Eisenhower 60.8; Taft 24.8; Arizona—Eisenhower 40.6; Taft 47.1; Arkansas—Eisenhower 49.1; Taft 43.9; California—Eisenhower 47.1; Taft 24.2; Colorado—Eisenhower 62.9; Taft 22.8; Connecticut—Eisenhower 59.3; Taft 29.3; Delaware—Eisenhower 62.4; Taft 28.7; Florida—Eisenhower 48.5; Taft 40; Georgia—Eisenhower 54.3; Taft 26.3; Idaho—Eisenhower 39.3; Taft 42.3; Illinois—Eisenhower 45.5; Taft 47.8; Indiana—Eisenhower 40; Taft 51.4; Iowa—Eisenhower 49.2; Taft 41.9; Kansas—Eisenhower 50; Taft 40.1; Kentucky—Eisenhower 33.2; Taft 61.4; Louisiana—Eisenhower 72.5; Taft 19.7; Maine—Eisenhower 60.3; Taft 25.7.

President Is Following Strategy Used by Roosevelt in 1940 Campaign Preliminaries

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 28 — Smart politicians hereabouts have about come to the conclusion that there is less of a joke and a teasing game about President Truman's reluctance to tell his intentions about a third term than there is well-defined strategy.

This strategy is to announce before May 1 that he does not wish to run and that he would prefer if the Democratic party would choose someone else.

Then will come the cry that nobody else is available who can command the confidence of the whole party and that he himself, having made the "glorious record" which the Democratic party orators have already begun to extol, there can be no other course but to draft him.

These smart politicians—some of them friendly and some unfriendly to Mr. Truman—point out that he is following almost exactly the course that President Franklin D. Roosevelt did in the early months of 1940—letting the reports be guess, giving no hint to any of his callers and then finally announcing that he didn't want to run but opening the door to the "draft" that finally came.

No bigger piece of hypocrisy has been invented in modern politics than that in an emergency all the existing rules of a representative system should be suspended and that, for example, the two-term tradition established by Washington and Jefferson shall be ignored because of such an emergency. The only emergency that confronts the Democratic party is the necessity of winning another election.

It is, of course, in a political sense a real emergency. If Mr. Truman deserts the officeholders—some 500,000 of them have high-income jobs—they can be removed from office in one way or another if another administration comes into power.

The argument most often made against the third term before 1940 was that no matter what the excuse—even a war emergency—once the tradition was broken it would be violated again and again.

What excuse will the Democratic party give the nation if it decides to "draft" President Truman for a third term? Already a constitutional amendment has been adopted barring everybody else from a third term. The only reason that Mr. Truman himself was not barred was because of the fear that the amendment would become a political issue and adoption in Truman states would be blocked if the exemption were not made. The supporters of the amendment felt it was more important to America in the long-range future to put a third-term ban in the Constitution now than to worry about whether Mr. Truman would or would not seek the office again. Lots of them thought he would be beaten anyhow.

But Mr. Truman's tactics of silence have had a direct effect on the means by which the nomination itself will be made this year. Nobody else has dared to come out—that is, nobody in the administration camp—and build a position and encourage the election of delegates. Senator Kefauver, of Tennessee, is obviously not popular with the administration and the cool reception given his candidacy by the "regulars" is proof of the hostility that awaits anybody else who dares to do likewise without the President's consent.

It really is too late now for an orthodox race to be held inside the Democratic party. Mr. Truman says he will make his announcement before April 29—which happens to be the deadline before the Missouri primary. This has been construed to mean that he may try for nomination as a United States senator again. But it could also mean that he thinks the months of May and June afford ample time for the party organizations to choose delegates pledged to other candidates or for the "draft process" to function for him. Franklin Roosevelt kept the election game going almost to the last minute in 1940 and didn't allow the buildup of any rival candidate. Mr. Truman perhaps is thinking that two months' notice gives everybody concerned a better break than under the Roosevelt method.

Last year—in fact, not long after the attempt at assassination was made at Blair House in November 1950 by the Puerto Rican radicals—the story went all through Washington that Mrs. Truman had expressed a vehement objection against any further service by her husband in the impressionable winter months, confirmed by answers at press conferences at the White House that the family would prefer Mr. Truman's termination of the presidency in January of 1953.

But now the smart politicians are saying that the President—whatever his earlier intentions have been—is changing his mind about it all and will let the Democratic party decide the issue after he makes it clear that he would prefer not to be a candidate and will not "seek" renomination.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Frankfurt—The Russian Communists, those dirty dogs, have been circulating among the laboring people of Western Germany a series of scurrilous and venomous, but unfortunately truthful, pamphlets about persons and aspects of life in my beloved Germany.

The Office of Public Affairs of the high commission for the government of Germany has been taking steps to counteract them. The director of the Office of Public Affairs of the high commission is Shephard Stone, who is on leave from the Sunday Department of the New York Times and holds a rank in the carpetbag government comparable to that of a cabinet member in a regular government.

The most effective item of this hostile propaganda that I've seen is a photograph of our President wearing a "USA in Words and Pictures" hat. The caption reads: "Tom Pendergast, der gangster-fuehrer, der Truman zum praesidenten machte," a sentiment with which I find it hard to disagree on the basis of my own explorations in Kansas City soon after Mr. Pendergast sent Mr. Truman to the United States Senate.

The new budget, which Mr. Truman unveiled the other day, includes ten million dollars for the activities of Mr. Stone's office, which recently moved to the new capital at the university city of Bonn. The total cost of the capitol at Bonn and the numerous auxiliaries, such as apartments for the carpetbaggers even down to the petty grades, and grocery stores on the order of the American supermarket, is about twenty millions. The activities of Mr. Stone's department of public affairs include a counter-propaganda and this counter-propaganda in some cases, including the present instance, endeavors to convince German workers who are exposed to subversive Russian documents that that which is true ain't.

The same article that reviews our President's undeniable devotion to the late Mr. Pendergast contains text and pictures of our underworld taken from the gaudy Kefauver show produced under the auspices of the United States Senate.

Still another picture shows Frank Erickson, the bookmaker, in a group described as a bunch of the boys of the democratic party. One of them is said to be Senator Herbert Lehman, that sterling statesman from New York. Another who is not identified looks to be mighty like my old friend Judge Ferdinand.

Then there is that unforgettable shot of the old professor playing the piano at the Washington Press Club with Lauren Bacall sitting up there showing a lot of leg, and down the margin of the page are three of those terrible tomato surprise neckties that Harry wears, a quarrel with any of this material, not only among the boys of Truman, Harry Vaughan and Johnny Maragon because of information and belief it's all true. So I don't see why any of my income tax should be spent trying to convince a lot of Germans that it is a tissue of lies.

Mr. Stone's personal politics are unknown to me, but the New York Times is a kiver-to-kiver New Deal proposition. Loyal to Hyde Park, nat of La Boca Grande and the Democratic platform, and its Sunday section is at least as far to the left as the Herald Tribune. It has a pronounced political slant and Mr. Stone's boss, Lester Markel, the Sunday editor, is one of the least biased newspaper executives of our time not only among his own staff but as far as his renown has carried. With a man like that it's genius. It's a gift. Yet we have the petty grades, and grocery swarm of men and women who thrive on being parasites.

Q—Why do Florida rivers and lakes sometimes disappear?

A—This happens when the rivers break through their soft limestone beds and flow into underground channels. These rivers usually reappear on the surface many miles away. The lakes sometimes drain dry through holes in their limestone beds. They usually fill again when dead plant life stops up the holes.

Q—How many bones does the foot contain?

A—Twenty-six separate bones.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 28, 1952

ANNIVERSARY MEMBERSHIP

Funds to support Kingston's 300th Anniversary Celebration will be raised in the form of membership in the anniversary incorporation and everyone will be given the opportunity of securing a membership. The drive is now underway and the memberships will range from two dollars to three hundred dollars.

It is unnecessary to call attention to the fact that money is required to stage a program in conjunction with the observance, but a remainder that this is our anniversary and that we should support it enthusiastically and generously is appropriate.

The executive committee will adjust the details of the program in accordance with the amount of financial support given by the citizens of the city. Therefore, the extent and adequacy of the program will be determined by the degree of financial support given by the people of the community.

President Stanley J. Matthews expresses his appreciation for the alacrity of the response by organizations and individuals. It is anticipated that this spirit and enthusiasm will continue until the celebration is brought to a very successful conclusion.

FORGOTTEN HEROINE

A great deal of credit for the amazing progress which has been made in transporting can be given to people who performed stunts often regarded as merely spectacular. The skippers of the old clipper ships who sought to make new records sailing around the Horn and the barnstorming pilots who flew the first planes "by the seat of their pants" had something in common; both helped to make their countrymen aware of speed. In 1890 an adventurous woman writer for the New York World, Nelly Bly, set out to establish the first record for circling the world. In Jules Verne's romance "Around the World in Eighty Days," the fictional hero, Phineas Fogg, circled the globe in eighty days. Nellie Bly did it in seventy-two and won the adulation of hero-worshipping crowds.

Few people remember the name of Nelly Bly today. Men have circled the globe in fast planes in four or five days. Other heroines have captured the public imagination with feats far more spectacular than hers. Yet it is doubtful whether any crowds have been more awed by the accomplishments of a woman than were the people who hailed Nellie Bly at the end of her pioneer journey.

When a child playing in another room is quieter than a whisper the experienced parent knows that a very noisy repercussion may be in the stage of development.

WOMEN IN UNIFORM

As the armed forces try to work out their manpower problems, they are giving increased attention to a source of help which might not always be thought of as covered by the term "manpower"—the skills and abilities of women. Undersecretary Francis P. Whitehair of the Navy said in a recent address that the women's services make up one of the Navy's greatest assets.

The armed forces have long had women nurses for their medical branches, and their service has often been illustrious. Women did a few other military jobs in the First World War, and in the Second War they were recruited for a wide variety of work in all the services. The experiment proved so successful that women's branches have been made permanent, and now the services are earnestly seeking to bring in more women and to number more and more standard military jobs among their duties. Apparently the leaders of our armed forces have no intention, from now on, of overlooking the value of women in uniform.

Peddlers may wonder what they did to incur court rulings that door-to-door selling may be a violation of home privacy. Maybe the doorbell rang too many times while the judge was taking a bath.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE PRESIDENCY

The office of President has changed so radically that a generation has grown up which seems to have lost altogether the sense of a division of our government into three independent branches, with checks and balances, as carefully provided in the Constitution.

This is startlingly interesting because it shows how swiftly the attitude of a nation can change. When Mr. Roosevelt demanded "blank check" appropriations from Congress, and got them, he weakened one of the most important Congressional functions, namely, control of the money of the nation. Mr. Roosevelt made the budget, and Congress blindly approved on the theory that there was a more or less constant emergency. Two wars and a depression have left their impression upon the upcoming generations who have not been grounded in the history, nature and purport of our constitutional system.

The Presidency has come to have an exaggerated significance in the minds of many Americans combining the functions of an elected prime minister and an hereditary king. The assumption seems to be that the President "reads" the nation, although the leadership principle was so repugnant to the founders of this country that the Constitution set up checks upon his authority, many of which can have no other explanation than an unwillingness to extend to any man vast and unrestrained powers.

Most Presidents have accepted constitutional restraints as the rule of the road; a few, like Andrew Jackson and perhaps Abraham Lincoln, found the restraints difficult in the circumstance of their times. Franklin D. Roosevelt's temperament was such that he brooked little interference, and his political ingenuity was such that he evolved procedures to subordinate both Congress and the courts to his will.

However, he never altogether succeeded. Harry Truman has some of Roosevelt's astuteness nor does he command equal respect, with the result that he has been in a constant quarrel with Congress, including the members of his own party.

Nevertheless, the power and authority of the Presidency have grown. If the respect for the incumbent is not exalted, at any rate, it is assumed that his office gives him an authority which often is not his at all, but rightly belongs to Congress or the judiciary.

The most glaring example of Mr. Truman's extra-constitutional activity is, of course, the frightful and costly Korean War. A study of the time-table of the first 48 hours of our participation in that situation will show that the United States initiated the action taken and that therefore the United Nations "police action" was an afterthought.

This is only important because, according to the Constitution, Congress alone is authorized to decide whether the United States goes to war or not. Congress, in the Truman pattern, gives its approval to the action taken and that therefore the Constitution authorizes this dubious procedure.

We may become involved in wars in Burma, Malaya, French Indochina, Iran and Turkey in the near future without an act of Congress despite the Constitution.

Similarly, at Tehran and Yalta, decisions were taken of the broadest international import, altering the map of the world, rearranging the nationalities of millions of human beings, placing upon the American people huge obligations and liabilities; yet none of it was done by normal Constitutional methods. No treaties were prepared which were duly ratified by the Senate, as is provided for in the Constitution.

At this time taken in the Presidential stride, with little protest by the people who had grown accustomed to a less restrained Presidency, which could, in time, become an unrestrained Presidency.

Another example of the flouting of Congress was the appointment of Dr. Philip Jessup to his important position on the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly session in Paris after the Constitution had rejected him for the post. A technicality made a recess appointment possible, but the intent of the senatorial action was so clear that a restrained President would not have employed it.

The American people can have any kind of government they choose and the Constitution provides means of alterations, even to the extent of abolishing the Constitution itself. The powers are orderly, to accomplish such changes by subterfuge is revolutionary and confusing. Much is being accomplished these days by propaganda that should be done by legislation. The peril is that propaganda may prevail and the legislature become a rump.

Perhaps one issue in the present campaign might be the Constitution itself, and the role of the President in the American system.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DEFENSE MECHANISM

Patients and physicians are now realizing that the brain controls the body, but that the body controls the brain at times they are not so willing to admit. As a matter of fact, the brain and body are one and so any part of the brain can affect body reactions and any part of the body can affect the brain and its emotional reactions.

Parents know that at times their youngster may feign illness because he doesn't want to go to school for some reason; at other times when really sick and receiving attention from everybody, he will continue to complain of symptoms after he is completely well. It would seem that many of these children, when grown up, continue to use real or feigned illness as a "defense mechanism" to avoid responsibility.

In New York State Medical Journal, Dr. Alfred Blazer, New York City, states that the commonest neurotic personality of our time uses this defense mechanism as his way of life. Unlike the normal person, he does not meet life in a constructive manner. He holds on to his illness and gets well too slowly or refuses to recognize that he is getting well, because illness is his main asset in coping with people, situations and his attitude toward himself. Such a person is not aware of his weakness or inadequacy in his make-up. He is not a malingerer who wants consciously to be ill for certain gains.

All overnervous or neurotic, as well as normal persons, want emotional security and satisfaction. If, when young, they have been unable to obtain security and satisfaction in the ordinary or usual ways, they develop methods of obtaining them by "enjoying poor health."

In the treatment of the psychosomatic (mind and emotions controlling body actions), Dr. Blazer states that successful treatment depends upon the relation which the psychiatrist or other physician or technician permits the patient to have with him. "With the psychiatrist or other helper in treatment, the patient does not have to be a submissive worm or a distressed automaton. He can learn to express his resentment when necessary and later to the rest of the world."

The psychiatrist or other therapist (one giving treatment) must feel the patient's mood and respond to it in a healing way. By careful examination and questioning, the patient learns to see himself as he really is—free of organic disease—and therefore in fit condition to face his responsibilities in life.

A Grave Responsibility

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Final results of the Merry-Go-Round post-card poll on the Republican candidates are as follows: General Eisenhower 49 per cent; Senator Taft of Ohio 35.6 per cent; Governor Warren of California 7.5 per cent; and General MacArthur 6.9 per cent.

A total of some 200,000 votes was received from every state in the union, and significantly the ratio of voting remained almost constant throughout the poll. Taft's strength, for instance, fluctuated only between 37 and 35.5 per cent; Eisenhower's strength between 48.5 and 49.6 per cent.

There was also little variation between the MacArthur and Warren vote, despite the fact that during the poll, General MacArthur made it clear he was not a candidate.

Stassen announced his candidacy during the middle of the poll, but his votes did not pick up as a result, and remained so few that they were not recorded.

Taft's strength, according to the Merry-Go-Round survey, is at its peak in the Midwest, while Eisenhower's strength is greatest in New England, the south and far west.

States where Taft leads are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Idaho, Maryland, North and South Dakota and Kentucky.

One surprising aspect of the poll was that Taft, though trailing in most southern states, ran strong in Kentucky with a 61.4 to 33.2 per cent vote over Eisenhower. This was greater strength than in Taft's home state, Ohio.

Also interesting was the fact that the Merry-Go-Round poll in New Hampshire gave Eisenhower a strength of 57.8 per cent against Taft's 29.5 per cent, which runs counter to the poll taken by the Manchester Union-Leader, which showed MacArthur first, Taft second, and Eisenhower a poor third.

The Merry-Go-Round poll in New Hampshire gave MacArthur 11.4 per cent. New Hampshire will be first state to stage a primary.

Although Eisenhower leaders

have not entered him in Wisconsin on the theory that Taft has the edge, the Merry-Go-Round poll showed Ike leading Taft in that state by 41 to 36.

The states where Eisenhower ran strongest were the extremes of the nation in size—Texas with a vote of 71 per cent and Rhode Island with a vote of 76 per cent.

Here are the final results of Taft and Eisenhower strength, state-by-state, in percentages.

Alabama—Eisenhower 60.8, Taft 24.8; Arizona—Eisenhower 40.6, Taft 47.1; Arkansas—Eisenhower 49.1, Taft 43.9; California—Eisenhower 47.1, Taft 24.2; Colorado—Eisenhower 62.9, Taft 22.8; Connecticut—Eisenhower 59.3, Taft 29.3; Delaware—Eisenhower 48.5, Taft 40.3; Florida—Eisenhower 51.3, Taft 16.3; Idaho—Eisenhower 39.3, Taft 42.3; Illinois—Eisenhower 45.5, Taft 47.8; Indiana—Eisenhower 30, Taft 51.4; Iowa—Eisenhower 49.2, Taft 41.9; Kansas—Eisenhower 50, Taft 40.1; Kentucky—Eisenhower 33.2, Taft 61.4; Louisiana—Eisenhower 72.5, Taft 19.7; Maine—Eisenhower 60.3, Taft 25.4.

Maryland—Eisenhower 42.7, Taft 48.3; Massachusetts—Eisenhower 61.3, Taft 28.2; Michigan—Eisenhower 49.3, Taft 36.5; Minnesota—Eisenhower 50.2, Taft 28.8; Mississippi—Eisenhower 62.3, Taft 31.3; Missouri—Eisenhower 62.4, Taft 29.6; Montana—Eisenhower 44.2, Taft 41.5; Nebraska—Eisenhower 45.4, Taft 44.5; Nevada—Eisenhower 63.6, Taft 23.4; New Hampshire—Eisenhower 57.8, Taft 29.5; New Jersey—Eisenhower 53.9, Taft 31.7; New Mexico—Eisenhower 61.7, Taft 16.9; New York—Eisenhower 46.9, Taft 39.3; North Carolina—Eisenhower 66.2, Taft 25; North Dakota—Eisenhower 32, Taft 52.1; Ohio—Eisenhower 35, Taft 54.6.

Oklahoma—Eisenhower 53, Taft 31.2; Oregon—Eisenhower 55.5, Taft 20.3; Pennsylvania—Eisenhower 45.9, Taft 38.1; Rhode Island—Eisenhower 76.7, Taft 16.1; South Carolina—Eisenhower 63, Taft 30.8; South Dakota—Eisenhower 31.6, Taft 51; Tennessee—Eisenhower 43.6, Taft 45.1; Texas—Eisenhower 71.6, Taft 19.9; Utah—Eisenhower 47.7, Taft 19.8; Vermont—Eisenhower 67, Taft 22.5; Virginia—Eisenhower 61.4, Taft 30.9; Washington—Eisenhower 46.5, Taft 25.3; West Virginia—Eisenhower 37.3, Taft 53.5; Wisconsin—Eisenhower 41.5, Taft 36.5; Wyoming—Eisenhower 36.7, Taft 44.6; District of Columbia—Eisenhower 56.6, Taft 34.8.

President Is Following Strategy Used by Roosevelt in 1940 Campaign Preliminaries

But Mr. Truman's tactics of silence have had a direct effect on the means by which the nomination itself will be made this year. Nobody else has dared to come out—that is, nobody in the administration camp—and build a position and encourage the election of delegates. Senator Kefauver, of Tennessee, is obviously not popular with the administration and the cool reception given his candidacy by the "regulars" is proof of the hostility that awaits anybody else who dares to do likewise without the President's consent.

It really is too late now for an orthodox race to be held inside the Democratic party. Mr. Truman says he will make his announcement before April 29—which happens to be the deadline before the primary election. This has been construed to mean that he may try for nomination as a United States senator again. But it could also mean that he thinks the months of May and June afford ample time for the party organizations to choose delegates pledged to other candidates or for the "draft process" to function for him. Franklin Roosevelt kept the guessing game going almost to the last minute in 1940 and didn't allow the buildup of any rival candidate. Mr. Truman perhaps is thinking that two months' notice gives everybody concerned a better break than under the Roosevelt method.

Last year—in fact, not long after the attempt at assassination was made at Blair House in November 1950 by the Puerto Rican racialist—the story went all through Washington that Mrs. Truman had expressed a vehement objection against any further service by her husband in the White House. Months later the impression was indirectly confirmed by answers at press conference that the President had the family would prefer Mr. Truman's termination of the presidency in January of 1953.

But now the smart politicians are saying that the President—whatever his earlier intentions have been—is changing his mind about it all and will let the Democratic party decide the issue whether he makes it clear that he would prefer not to be a candidate and will not "seek" renomination.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Frankfurt—The Russian Communists, those dirty dogs, have been circulating among the laboring people of Western Germany a series of scurrilous and venomous, but unfortunately truthful, pamphlets about persons and aspects of life in my beloved country.

The Office of Public Affairs of the high commission for the government of Germany has been taking steps to counteract them. The director of the Office of Public Affairs of the high commission is Shephard Stone, who is on leave from the Sunday Department of the New York Times and holds a rank in the carpetbag government comparable to that of a cabinet member in a regular government.

The most effective item of this hostile propaganda that I've seen is a photograph of our President wearing one of those godawful sport shirts of his at the rest cure which we provide for him at Key West free of all cost to him, and on which he is not required to pay any income tax with respect to estimated reasonable rent. But hardly less so is the cover design, a photograph of our President's late political and ethical mentor and personal idol, the late Tom Pendergast, of Kansas City, against a background of prison bars with his Leavenworth variety number just below. The number is 53285.

The title of this magazine, which comes out in the familiar digest form, is "USA in Words and Pictures." The outline below Pendergast's picture reads, "Tom Pendergast, der gangster-fuehrer, der Truman zum praesidenten machte," a sentiment with which I find it hard to disagree on the basis of my own explorations in Kansas City soon after Mr. Pendergast sent Mr. Truman to the United States Senate.

The new budget, which Mr. Truman unveiled the other day, includes ten million dollars for the activities of Mr. Stone's office, which recently moved to the new capitol at the university city of Bonn. The total cost of the capitol at Bonn and the numerous auxiliaries, such as apartments for the carpetbaggers even down to the petty grades, and grocery stores on the order of the American supermarket, is about twenty-five millions. The activities of Mr. Stone's department of public affairs include counter-propaganda and this counter-propaganda in some cases, including the present instance, endeavors to convince German workers who are exposed to subversive Russian documents that that which is true ain't.

The same article that reviews our President's unimpeachable devotion to the late Mr. Pendergast contains text and pictures dealing with other phases of our unedifying taken from the gaudy Kefauver show produced under the auspices of the United States Senate.

Still another picture shows Frank Erickson, the plumber, in a group described as a bunch of the boys of the Democratic party. One of them is said to be Senator Herbert Lehman, that sterling statesman from New York. Another who is not identified is said to be like my old friend Judge Ferdinand Pecora. Then there is that unforgettable sort of the old professor playing the piano at the Washington Press Club with Lauren Bacall sitting up there showing a lot of leg, and down below the top of the page are three of those terrible tomato-throwing neckties that Harry wears. I can't quarrel with any of this material nor even with a layout of Truman, Harry Vaughan and Johnny Marcano because on information and belief it's all true. So I don't see why any of my income tax should be spent trying to convince a lot of Germans that it is a tissue of lies.

Mr. Stone's personal politics are unknown to me, but the New York Times is a kiver-to-kiver New Deal proposition. Loyal to Hyde Park naunt of La Boca Grande and the Democratic platform, and its Sunday section is at least as far to the left as the Herald Tribune. It has a pronounced political slant and Mr. Stone's boss, Lester Markel, the Sunday editor, is one of the least beloved newspaper executives of our time not only among his own staff but as far as his renown has carried. With a man like that it's a gift. Yet we have

Twain's Kindly Rebuff

By FRANK TRIPP

When I was very green my editor said: "Sam Clemens is arriving on the 4:30. Go to the station and see him." Today that assignment would thrill even a topnotcher, but it was hardly over routine where I cubbed.

Mark Twain was a familiar figure in Elmira. He courted and married there, wrote several of his books there, rests there now. Old heads had given up getting a printable wisecrack out of him. So this time they sent a kid. It was my first celebrity interview—and I muffed it.

The shaggy-haired, white-clad writer climbed awkwardly from the train. I ambled alongside. He didn't awe me as he should. Jim Corbett was bigger news to me. It wasn't stagelike that screwed up the interview; it was just plain juvenile dumbness.

"Mister Clemens," I saluted. I recall pondering if I should call him Mr. Twain; then remembered that we never called our townsman Mrs. Twain. After walking half the station platform he noticed me.

"Well, what is it?" he inquired. "My editor asked me to come to the station and see you," I replied.

"That's nice of your editor," said the humorist. "I'll tell you later what else he said; it's the mubbin of the story. The two sentence contact ended with the push-off yet to be revealed; and taught me how not to start an interview."

"DID CLEMENS have anything to say?" my editor inquired when I returned to the office. "Wouldn't talk," I said. Thus a dull paragraph told next morning just that S. L. Clemens was back in town.

When the sheet had gone to press and the nightly post-mortem was in sway, I registered my first gripe about notables who come up from the newsroom and push off humble followers of their push-off. Mark Twain didn't deserve my wrath that night. He had been kind to me and I didn't know it.

"What did you say to him?" put in venerable Ed Adams, who had palled with Gilbert and Sullivan and was one of Sam Clemens' local intimates.

"I told him that my editor sent me to see him," I replied.

"You said 'to see him,'" chuckled Mr. Adams, who could see it coming. "And what did he say?"

"The old crab just grunted. 'That's nice of your editor. Run along and tell him that you did.'"

"Why, you blasted little idiot!" roared the seasoned old-timer. Then he dashed off a paragraph for the next issue.

As my humiliation was reprinted in paper after paper, invariably it was captioned, "Cub sees Twain, but not his joke." That's one reason I have never written an essay on the appreciation of humor.

MARK TWAIN never was editor of the paper where I started, though today some of the boys boast that he was. He did kid the natives and work off some of his tomfoolery in its columns, signed his communications "Scat." Unhappily the files are burned.

Local legend has it that back when monuments were springing up like mushrooms on Gettysburg's battlefield Mark ran a campaign on his own in the Elmira Advertiser. He suggested that sight was being lost of the man to whom humanity owed its greatest debt. He started a movement to correct the oversight; to erect a monument to Adam.

Maneuvered as only he could do it, he kept the idea of a bust foremost. When he had written out his fun and time came to engage a sculptor, he wrote a request that anybody who had a daguerrotype of Adam should please send it in.

The search for Twain goes merrily on, but there's little left in the well. Jervis Langdon, his nephew and executor, spent much time in Twain's company when casual unrecorded morsels could have dropped. He can add no more to the saga; nor can he authenticate some of the reputedly new discoveries of Twain wisdom.

The lovable free and easy reminiscences who knew Mark Twain around Elmira are gone. Of those who sat by the hour telling things Mark said to them, the games they beat him at, the liars, the drinks he didn't buy them, I always had deep suspicion.

I suspected that their intimate acquaintance with the somewhat standoffish funny man amounted mostly to a nod or a beck. As did mine.

It's Loaded—So Be Careful!

Before you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac, there is one thing we should like to impress upon you: It's loaded—so be careful!

There's more power in that dynamic engine than you'll ever need—except for the rarest emergency. And it should never, never be used for dramatic display on the get-away.

If somebody else wants the honors when the light turns green—let 'em go. You don't have to prove anything, anyway.

But that great power works for you—even when you're not unleashing it to the limit.

It works for you as a reserve—and gives you that easy, quiet, flowing ride which makes a Cadillac such a joy to own and such a thrill to drive...

It gives you that slow-moving engine—that simply loafs at all legal speeds—and which is a literal Methuselah when it comes to long life...

And it is a primary reason for that unbelievably low upkeep expense, at which Cadillac owners never cease to marvel. Some fleet owners have found, for instance, that Cadillacs cost less to maintain than any other cars they have ever used. And the easy-going engine, that never operates under strain, is a big factor in this economy.

Yes—Cadillac's great power works for you—and is necessary—and is one of the vital reasons why Cadillac's performance is so outstandingly different.

But we trust that no Cadillac owner will ever use it for dominating the highway. To do so is not only counter to the rules of safety—but is not in keeping with the graciousness the motoring public has come to expect from the person at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Have you seen this great Golden Anniversary creation? If not, we should be pleased to welcome you to our showrooms.

of the paper where I started, though today some of the boys boast that he was. He did kid the natives and work off some of his tomfoolery in its columns; signed his communications "Scat." Unhappily the files are burned.

Local legend has it that back when monuments were springing up like mushrooms on Gettysburg's battlefield Mark ran a campaign on his own in the Elmira Advertiser. He suggested that sight was being lost of the man to whom humanity owed its greatest debt. He started a movement to correct the oversight; to erect a monument to Adam.

in the well. Jervis Langdon, his nephew and executor, spent much time in Twain's company when casual unrecorded morsels could have dropped. He can add no more to the saga; nor can he authenticate some of the reputedly new discoveries of Twain wisdom.

The lovable free and easy reminiscencers who knew Mark Twain around Elmira are gone. Of those who sat by the hour telling things Mark said to them, the games they beat him at billiards, the drinks he didn't buy them, I always had deep suspicion.

I suspected that their intimate acquaintance with the somewhat standoffish funny man amounted mostly to a nod or a beck. As did mine.

Cadillac

It's Loaded—So Be Careful!

Before you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac, there is one thing we should like to impress upon you: It's loaded—so be careful!

There's more power in that dynamic engine than you'll ever need—except for the rarest emergency. And it should never, never be used for dramatic display on the get-away.

If somebody else wants the honors when the light turns green—let 'em go. You don't have to prove anything, anyway.

But that great power works for you—even when you're not unleashing it to the limit.

It works for you as a reserve—and gives you that easy, quiet, flowing ride which makes a Cadillac such a joy to own and such a thrill to drive...

It gives you that slow-moving engine—that simply loafs at all legal speeds—and which is a literal Methuselah when it comes to long life...

And it is a primary reason for that unbelievably low upkeep expense, at which Cadillac owners never cease to marvel.

Some fleet owners have found, for instance, that Cadillacs cost less to maintain than any other cars they have ever used. And the easy-going engine, that never operates under strain, is a big factor in this economy.

Yes—Cadillac's great power works for you—and is necessary—and is one of the vital reasons why Cadillac's performance is so outstandingly different.

But we trust that no Cadillac owner will ever use it for dominating the highway. To do so is not only counter to the rules of safety—but is not in keeping with the graciousness the motoring public has come to expect from the person at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Have you seen this great Golden Anniversary creation? If not, we should be pleased to welcome you to our showrooms.

THE SUEZ CANAL, "jugular vein of the British Empire," doesn't belong to Britain at all, but to a private British and French firm, the Suez Canal Co. But, the Suez has been controlled by Britain since the time of Victoria. The "big ditch"—in effect a toll road between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea, gateway to the Indies—was dug in 1859-69 by a great French engineer, Count Ferdinand de Lesseps. De Lesseps viewed the 104-mile, sea-level waterway as his contribution to "peace and progress." Recently, the Suez has contributed heavily to world tension, as Egypt, acting in the fervent new tradition of Moslem "nationalism," tore up the 1936 treaty under which Britain keeps troops in the Canal Zone. The British stood firm, and when ugly riots broke out, bringing threats of a "holy war," rushed heavy reinforcements to the area. Frequent bloody clashes between British forces and Arabs have occurred. Prime Minister Churchill's recent proposal that the U. S., France and Turkey send troops to the Suez was greeted by Egypt with cries of "aggression" and threats to invoke the Arab League's seven-nation defense pact. Though the British Empire has shrunk, the Suez Canal remains a vital "lifeline" for the western world. The Canal allows rapid shift of troops and supplies and, until recently, carried half of Europe's oil. Suez is the hub of the Middle East area that affords us land and air bases in one of the world's most strategic locations. Loss of the Suez Canal would be a severe blow to the west, a great victory for Russia.

Can You Find Anything Wrong?

"Will you please save my family from divorce or murder by solving my Samba problem," requests a Milwaukee reader.

"My husband and I, together with another couple, have been playing Samba for about two months. I always sit to my husband's left, and my girl friend sits to his right. My husband is the culprit and fiend in this plot.

"I maintain that when four people play cards the game should include all four people, but my husband makes it a game of solitaire by hoarding all his cards, refusing ever to meld or add to his partner's melds until he has everything cornered and two thirds of the cards are in the discard pile.

"Then my girl friend, with absolutely no clue as to what he is holding, is consistently forced to give him that huge discard pile. He's always winning, and always doing it in two hands, but where is the card game for the rest of us?

"While he plays a lone game his own partner gets nothing out of it, and we girls must ease our frustration by eating double portions of sandwiches and cake after the game.

"I can't get back at my husband by eating green onions and limburger cheese sandwiches the rest of my life, so I devised a way to foil him, and here is what happened. I instructed my girl friend to play the same as my husband, and I did the same. The other man saw what was going on, so in self-defense he had to do it too.

"As a result, for six straight hands we went through the stock pile, both sides on the table with two jokers and only enough aces to make the proper meld, but that is all the time, but it just wasn't a good game. The whole thing was stymied.

"So please, Mr. Jacoby, if a human heart beats within your manly chest, clear up this problem that has crept up on us. I might add that the four of us have called a truce and have gone back to bridge.

until we see something in the paper about our problem."

This is a difficult problem, and I don't see the solution to it offhand. I've played quite a bit of Samba, and so have most of my friends, but nobody has seen or heard of this kind of experience.

If each player discards black threes and wild cards at each turn, you can get about halfway through the stock pile, but then somebody will run out of safe cards. It strikes me that the pack should be picked up at least three or four times out of six deals, and not always by the same player. The only explanation I can see is that my correspondent's husband is so much better than the other players that it isn't much fun for them to take a beating each time.

If the two girls played to meld out quickly, without trying to defend the discard pile, they should be able to meld out in most deals within five or six turns to play. That would catch friend husband with a mittful of cards and no melds.

There are usually eight to ten frankfurters in a pound.

THE SUEZ CANAL, "jugular vein of the British Empire," doesn't belong to Britain at all, but to a private British and French firm, the Suez Canal Co. Ltd. The Suez has been controlled by Britain since the time of Victoria. The "big ditch"—in effect a toll road between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea, gateway to the Indies—was dug in 1859-69 by a great French engineer, Count Ferdinand de Lesseps. De Lesseps viewed the 104-mile, sea-level waterway as his contribution to "peace and progress." Recently, the Suez has contributed heavily to world tension, as Egypt, acting in the feverish new tradition of Moslem "nationalism," tore up the 1936 treaty under which Britain keeps troops in the Canal Zone. The British stood firm, and when ugly riots broke out, bringing threats of a "holy war," rushed heavy reinforcements to the area. Frequent bloody clashes between British forces and Arabs have occurred. Prime Minister Churchill's recent proposal that the U. S., France and Turkey send troops to the Suez was greeted by Egypt with cries of "aggression" and threats to invoke the Arab League's seven-nation defense pact. Though the British Empire has shrunk, the Suez Canal remains a vital "lifeline" for the western world. The Canal allows rapid shift of troops and supplies and, until recently, carried half of Europe's oil. Suez is the hub of the Middle East area that affords us land and air bases in one of the world's most strategic locations. Loss of the Suez Canal would be a severe blow to the west, a great victory for Russia.

To Receive Award

JOAN M. EWIG

Joan M. Ewig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Ewig, 261 Pearl street, is one of five students at Columbia University's School of Dramatic Arts who has completed an advanced course in acting taught in the school of General Studies by Gertrude Lawrence, star of The King and I, and who has been voted by her fellow students as one of the most deserving to receive an award to be presented by Miss Lawrence.

For these prizes, a sum of $500 has been donated by Miss Lawrence from her salary as instructor at Columbia, where she is teaching a course in the study of roles and scenes during both sessions of the current academic year. The prizes will be awarded at the close of the Spring session. The winners were chosen by secret ballot of the class. First and second-prize winners were the two students receiving the largest number of votes, with a tie resulting for second place among the women students. First prize winners receive $150; second prize is $100, which is being divided equally by Miss Ewig and another student.

Miss Ewig, who has attended Carnegie Institute of Technology, is an undergraduate at the School of General Studies. She has appeared in summer stock. During the summer of 1950, she appeared at the Woodstock Playhouse under the direction of Margaret Webster.

HOME BUREAU

Ulster County

Mrs. David DuBois, Ulster County Home Bureau Tailoring leader, will teach a series of six lessons on the making of a dress, makers wool suit or spring coat. Enrollments are now being received at the Home Bureau office, 280 Wall street in Kingston. The classes will be held in the Social Activities Room at the New Paltz Central School in New Paltz. Anyone wishing to join should enroll at once. The first lesson will be held on February 19. An enrollment fee will be charged to cover the cost of this service.

Only those who have had sufficient sewing experience and have developed the skill that will make such an endeavor successful will be accepted. The making of a suit or coat requires a high standard of workmanship. Two or three days work outside of class for each day in class will be required. Think this announcement over carefully. If you are interested and feel you are qualified notify the Home Bureau Office before February 4 by return mail you will be sent further information.

Saxton Unit

Members of the Saxton Home Bureau Unit served a ham supper in the fire house last week. It was attended by 65 persons. A group interested in the making of fabric gloves will meet Thursday at 10 a. m. in the fire house. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. The leaders of this project are Mrs. Floyd Myer and Mrs. Eugene Meyers.

During the uncrowning ceremony for Mrs. Elizabeth Hyatt, retiring royal matron, her daughter, Donna, sang To You, which was followed by a beautiful degree written by Mrs. Charlotte Reynolds.

The ceremony of installation was conducted by Virgil Wagar, past royal patron of Floral Court 11, Hartford, Conn., and brother of the royal matron elect.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hyatt, junior past royal matron, served as marshal and Mrs. May Umpleby as assistant marshal.

The impressive crowning ceremonies under the direction of Miss Vivian Kellenberger, crowning matron, was assisted by the Roundout Commandery 52, Fred Reynolds, husband of royal matron elect, acted as marshal for this ceremony. Mrs. Sadie Mott sang This Is My Task.

Visitors were present from Hartford, Conn., and all courts of district 29. At the close of the ceremonies, a supper was served.

Mrs. George Robinson Receives Appointment

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 28—Captain J. Y. Damsberg, commander U. S. Naval Base, Los Angeles, Cal., recently announced that Mrs. George S. Robinson, the former Margaret Searle of Kingston, N. Y., has been appointed chairman of the San Pedro-Long Beach Navy Relief Auxiliary. This auxiliary is a branch of the Navy Relief Society and work is accomplished on a volunteer basis by officers' wives.

As chairman of this organization, Mrs. Robinson is in charge of assembling layettes, maintaining a sewing room and managing a thrift shop located on the naval station. Different articles of clothing are donated by the organizations to the thrift shop where they are mended and sold to naval personnel for a fraction of their original cost. Layettes are made by the auxiliary and given to naval personnel in the lower pay grades.

Mrs. Robinson is the daughter of Mrs. Lewen F. Searle who resides at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston, N. Y. Her husband, Commander George S. Robinson (CE) USN, is the son of Mrs. E. Clark Reed of Main street, Sagerties, N. Y. Mrs. Robinson is the Public Works Officer for the U. S. Naval Station, Long Beach, Cal.

Freeman Social Club Held Banquet Saturday

The Freeman Social Club held its 37th annual banquet Saturday night at the Hotel Stuyvesant, with more than 120 members and guests present. Mrs. Lucia deL. Klock, president of the Freeman Publishing Company, was the guest of honor.

Joseph Kelly, assistant city editor of the Freeman, was master of ceremonies for the entertainment which followed the banquet. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herick presented a skillful surprise program with their marionettes and Fred Van Deusen contributed immeasurably with his Sleigh of Hand entertainment. One of the outstanding events on the program was the popular poetry of Robert Sachloff, member of the advertising department.

The affair this year was in charge of Henry Dittus, chairman, who was assisted by Donald Hyatt and Donald Koopen. Walter Kieffer is president of the club and George Reis, secretary and treasurer.

Harry Maisenhelder and his orchestra played for the dancing during the evening.

Aged Actress Dies

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Actress Fannie Ward, who sought "eternal youth" and looked like a fapper even in old age, died yesterday at Lenox Hill Hospital. She admitted to being 79 years old, but friends said she was in her 80s. One said 83. The "eternal soubrette" made a glamorous career of seeking the fountain of youth, and said she found it in a secret facial treatment learned from French stage star Gaby Deslys. Her efforts to stay young—she permitted her to play a 14-

Good Taste Today

BUSY MOTHER

The mother of a growing family asks me to print my opinion of the following situation: "When a member of either my or my husband's family, or a friend, drops in unexpectedly to see me, and I am in the midst of household chores, is it improper to continue what I am doing, or must I drop everything and sit down to talk to them? I do all my own housework and these interruptions—often unreasonably long—put me back a great deal."

You can say "I am sorry to shorten your visit but I must prepare dinner" or finish cleaning, or whatever you are doing. If your visitor doesn't go then all you can do is to go on with your work and let her watch you.

After-Dinner Coffee Cups

Dear Mrs. Post: Can the small after-dinner coffee cups be used for anything besides serving coffee in the living room after dinner? I have received a very pretty set of these cups and would like very much to use them. However, we do not follow this kind of service in our house and, furthermore, we like to drink our coffee at table with dessert.

Answer: You can use them anywhere and at any time you like, but they hold so little I can think of nothing except strong black coffee that could be proffered in them. One might serve chocolate so strong as to be almost solid, with stiff whipped cream pyramid above it (or anything your imagination can suggest of which a "taste could be enough).

Bride in Navy Blue

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon but am not dressing as a bride. Would it be all wrong to wear a navy blue suit at my wedding?

Answer: It would be all right if actually by "wedding" you mean having the marriage service read in the presence of fewest friends—who also compromise those invited "to the house" or to stay and wish you happiness after the ceremony.

Will you please tell me when it is proper to use colored linen also plate mats? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-32 gives a description of all types of table linen and their use. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Grange News

Katrine Unit
Lake Katrine Grange held its regular meeting last Monday night. Deputy State Master Barnhart was present and brought an interesting message. Deputy Juvenile Grange Master, Mrs. Isaac Graham attended and spoke of the importance of the Grange for juveniles. Joseph Benjamin of the Central Hudson Co. gave a talk about the development of water power from the Niagara river and the advantages of private ownership as compared with federal and state controlled utilities. He had charts to illustrate his talk. The Mt. Tremper softball teams braved the weather and were victors over the Lake Katrine Grange teams at the Lake Katrine hall Tuesday night. The next softball contest will be at the Lake Katrine Grange hall and the opponents will be members of the New Paltz teams Monday night.

Mrs. Edward Riley sang a solo, Ave Maria accompanied by Mrs. Harold Adams. The society members welcomed the Rev. John Conner, former priest of the parish who paid a surprise visit. Refreshments were served by a committee. Mrs. Leonard Portuondo, Mrs. Harold Daley and Miss Catherine Martin.

Fire on Plane Extinguished

Singapore (AP)—Hundreds of persons at Singapore's Kallang Airport held their breath as they watched a two-engine plane of the Malayan Airways swoop down for an emergency landing—its starboard engine spitting smoke and flame. Some of them knew there were 21 passengers on the plane, arriving from Kuala Lumpur. As airport fire engines reached the stricken craft, the smoke ceased. The pilot had doused the fire in time with an emergency extinguisher.

Prindle Will Take Local Pastorate at Comforter Church

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Lincoln Park, N. J., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, Kingston.

According to a member of the consistory of the local church, the Rev. Mr. Prindle will move to Kingston sometime in March and will deliver his first sermon as pastor of the local church on Palm Sunday.

The Reformed Church of the Comforter has been without a regular minister since the middle of 1951 when the Rev. Raymond Pontier accepted a call to the Port Jervis Reformed Church.

The new pastor and his wife have resided in Lincoln Park, N. J., since September 1948, coming to this church from the Kentucky Mission of the Reformed Church at Annville, Kentucky where the Rev. Mr. Prindle was dean of the church school and his wife served as a teacher. The new minister and his wife have two small children.

While serving as pastor of the New Jersey church, the Rev. Mr. Prindle was responsible for various major improvements in the church property, increased the membership of the church considerably, and also served as deputy director of the Civil Defense Council of Lincoln Park. He is also a first lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve, attached to the 478th AAA AWps (SP) Bn which is part of the famous 78th Division as chaplain.

The Rev. and Mrs. Prindle and family will reside in the newly renovated apartment of the parsonage of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, located on Wynkoop Place.

Maybank Opposes

inating Mr. Truman again, it is known that his opposition is not based solely on the civil rights issue.

Of late, Maybank has complained openly that his banking committee has not been consulted by the White House in advance of important nominations by the President.

The most recent instance was proposed appointment of Harry McDonald to head the much-investigated Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC). Last Friday the committee refused to approve McDonald for the assignment pending further study of the matter, and Maybank so advised the President. Mr. Truman replied, Maybank said, that he would not withdraw the nomination.

Earlier, Maybank had gone over Mr. Truman's head and got a promise from W. Stuart Symington—whose resignation the President had accepted—to stay on temporarily as RFC administrator while the committee studied the McDonald nomination.

It was against that background that a reporter asked Maybank for his views on nominating Mr. Truman for another term.

"I am for Senator Dick Russell for the nomination," Maybank replied.

Told that implied he was against Mr. Truman, Maybank said: "That's right. I am against Truman and for Russell. And I predict that most of the south will be for Russell."

Maybank had no comment on whether he would support Mr. Truman for election if he is nominated. Politicians generally feel that Mr. Truman can be assured of the nomination simply by announcing his candidacy, but Maybank indicated he does not share that view.

Bids for Steel Doors at Armory

New York state's Division of Military and Naval Affairs today advertised for bids for the erection of an automatic steel door to replace the present wooden double door at the rear of the drill shed at the state armory in Kingston.

The new door, which will be electrically operated, will be of the "upward operating" type. It will not materially increase the size of the opening, which at present is closed by large wooden double doors of a size to permit the movement of heavy equipment into the drill shed, according to specifications which may be viewed at the armory.

Bids, which will include construction and electric work, will be received by the Division of Military and Naval Affairs at the Gov. Alfred E. Smith Office Building in Albany until 2 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 20.

Drawings and specifications may be obtained upon a $5 deposit at the office of the state architect in Albany. They may be viewed without charge at that office, at district engineers' offices or at the armory.

Be Ready for The Solicitor When He Calls

As Pegler Sees It

been catching glimpses of Market hopping around Europe this winter and just after Christmas it came out that he was chairman of the executive board of something called the International Press Institute, with headquarters in Zurich, which is going to set up a national committee in each of twenty-four countries, including ours. I am not suspicious, you understand, but anything that the Sunday editor of the New York Times is head of is worth a little watching.

When I spoke of Mr. Truman's free use of the winter palace at Key West, I had in mind the case of an Arizona friend who was down to eating boiled jackrabbit in the days of the great panic, but finally managed to get a steady job as gardener and watchman.

As watchman it was necessary for him to live on the place and the law says where a fellow lives in provided quarters for the convenience of his employer, he can't be charged with income on the rent he doesn't have to pay. But they clipped this poor joker for tax on an accumulation of about ten years' undeclared "income" in the form of rent at thirty dollars a month with compound interest.

So next time I went to Washington I called on Schoeneman and Oliphant, commissioner of Internal Revenue and the bureau's counsel, both of whom were casualties of the recent explosion in that department. Schoeneman and Oliphant heard my friend's case and said it was sad but unfortunately all of us had to bear the cost of rearing. So I asked what about Truman's use of the Key West plant? Was he taxed on that? Oh, no, they said, the President's duties followed him wherever he went.

Listen, I said, I provide that "rude, uncouth, ignorant man" with a dam good house right here on Pennsylvania avenue, and the Constitution says nothing about free rent for him so he ought to pay taxes on all his free accommodations, including reasonable rental of the yacht, but, I said, I'll wave rent on Blair House and the steamboat but by god if you're going to slap my Arizona friend for free use of a two room adobe house you better make Harry get it up, with cumulative compound interest at six per cent.

Oh, they said, you can't call our President a "rude, uncouth, ignorant man." They said, after all, he's our President. Yes, I said, and after all he's a "rude, uncouth, ignorant man."

And now, I suppose, Mr. Stone will be spending some of that ten million trying to convince a lot of dumb simple Germans he isn't.

Self-Made Man Can Make Failures of Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mr. Brown is a self-made man. He will tell you that he came up "the hard way" and that his children are failures because they came up the soft way.

"Came too easy," says Mr. Brown to account for the son who flunked at college. "Had too much too young," he says about the daughter with the third divorce.

Mr. Brown is talking about fur coats, private schools, and roadsters. While it is quite true that Dolly and Jim had too many of these, too young, it is not true that they came "too easy." They cost Dolly and Jim the biggest price in the world—their self-esteem.

They paid out a piece of it every time they were told how lucky they were to receive a new possession, a new privilege.

Every time they accepted the new car, the new coat from the father who said, "I tell you, nobody ever gave me breaks like you get! No, sir, I had to hustle for myself. Why, when I was your age, I was earning my own keep and saving money, instead of spending it! You don't know how soft you've got it, you two."

WALLKILL

Wallkill, Jan. 28—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pickes celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Jan. 15 by being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fletcher of Wallkill. The Fletcher home was decorated with a gold motif and yellow satin streamers leading from the ceiling to a miniature bride and groom. A wedding cake was part of the table decoration. Mr. and Mrs. Pickes were presented with a bouquet of yellow flowers.

A baby shower in honor of Mrs. Ralph Harris was given at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Wood of Wallkill, on Jan. 22. Mrs. Ecker as co-hostess. Those attending were Miss Janice Terwilliger, Mrs. Richard Hine, Mrs. S. Kelso Sloan, Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, Mrs. George Terwilliger, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Harry Pfaff, Mrs. E. L. Mack and Mrs. Gerald Griffin of New York.

Mrs. A. Paul Bosch of Brooklyn spent the week-end with her sister, Peggy VanDerEsen and sons, Ian and Peter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Foster celebrated their anniversary, Jan. 21 and Mrs. Foster celebrated her birthday on Jan. 22.

Mrs. Anna Marie Schultz is recovering at Goshen Hospital from a major operation. Mrs. Schultz makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Hanke of Wallkill.

Infant baptism will be observed the second Sunday of February at the Wallkill Reformed Church.

Any parents who would like to have their children baptized are to make arrangements with the Rev. Mr. Hine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Briehl are parents of a son, Robert Frederick, born at St. Luke's Hospital, January 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richmond of Mountainville are parents of a son, Gregory Kim. Mrs. Richmond is the former Helga Juch of Wallkill, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Juch of Buena Vista street.

Mrs. Howard Terwilliger and infant son, Paul Cloten have returned home from Goshen Hospital.

Miss Mary Krieten spent the week-end at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Tyse of New Hurley.

Wallace Palen has taken a position with the Duane Dolan Farms.

Douglas Palen spent Thursday at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Morehouse.

Mrs. Peter Purves of New York spent the week-end with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Masten.

Mr. and Mrs. John White and infant daughter, Elizabeth spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Messerschmitt of Gardiner.

Fire on Plane Extinguished

Singapore (AP)—Hundreds of persons at Singapore's Kallang Airport held their breath as they watched a two-engine plane of the Malayan Airways swoop down for an emergency landing—its starboard engine spitting smoke and flame. Some of them knew there were 21 passengers on the plane, arriving from Kuala Lumpur. As airport fire engines roared to the scene, the plane touched down. The pilot had doused the fire in time with an emergency extinguisher.

Prindle Will Take Local Pastorate at Comforter Church

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Lincoln Park, N. J., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, Kingston.

According to a member of the consistency of the local church, the Rev. Mr. Prindle will move to Kingston sometime in March and will deliver his first sermon as pastor of the local church on Palm Sunday.

The Reformed Church of the Comforter has been without a regular minister since the middle of 1951 when the Rev. Raymond Pontier accepted a call to the Port Jervis Reformed Church.

The new pastor and his wife have resided in Lincoln Park, N. J., since September 1948, coming to this church from the Kentucky Mission of the Reformed Church at Annville, Kentucky where the Rev. Mr. Prindle was dean of the church school and his wife served as a teacher. The new minister and his wife have two small children.

While serving as pastor of the New Jersey church, the Rev. Mr. Prindle was responsible for various major improvements in the church property, increased the membership of the church considerably, and also served as deputy director of the Civil Defense Council of Lincoln Park. He is also a first lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve, attached to the 478th AAA AWPs (SP) Bn, which is part of the famous 78th Division as chaplain.

The Rev. and Mrs. Prindle and family will reside in the newly renovated apartment of the parsonage of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, located on Wynkoop Place.

Maybank Opposes

inating Mr. Truman again, it is known that his opposition is not based solely on the civil rights issue.

Of late, Maybank has complained openly that his banking committee has not been consulted by the White House in advance of important nominations by the President.

The most recent instance was proposed appointment of Harry McDonald to head the much-investigated Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC). Last Friday the committee refused to approve McDonald for the assignment pending further study of the matter, and Maybank so advised the President, Mr. Truman replied.

Maybank said, that he would not withdraw the nomination.

Earlier, Maybank had gone over Mr. Truman's head and got a promise from W. Stuart Symington—whose resignation the President had accepted—to stay on temporarily as RFC administrator while the committee studied the McDonald nomination.

It was against that background that a reporter asked Maybank for his views on nominating Mr. Truman for another term.

"I am for Senator Dick Russell for the nomination," Maybank replied.

Told that implied he was against Mr. Truman, Maybank said:

"That's right. I am against Truman and for Russell. And I predict that most of the south will be for Russell."

Maybank had no comment on whether he would support Mr. Truman for election if he is nominated. Politicians generally feel that the nomination simply by announcing his candidacy, but Maybank indicated he does not share that view.

Silver Coins Saved

Singapore (AP)—Only a last-minute decision shifted the shipment of $33,000 worth of silver coins on the Singapore-Kuala Lumpur train that was derailed recently.

When an extra car was put on the train for the royal family of the State of Negri Sembilan, it became necessary to withdraw the coin car. The coins were shipped under special guard two days later.

Most teen-agers don't realize that in a few years they will be as dumb as their parents

As Pegler Sees It

been catching glimpses of Market hopping around Europe this winter and just after Christmas it came out that he was chairman of the executive board of something called the International Press Institute, with headquarters in Zurich, which is going to set up a national committee in each of twenty-four countries, including ours. I am not suspicious, you understand, but anything that the Sunday editor of the New York Times is head of is worth a little watching.

When I spoke of Mr. Truman's free use of the winter palace at Key West, I had in mind the case of an Arizona friend who was down to eating boiled jackrabbit in the days of the great panic, but finally managed to get a steady job as gardener and watchman.

As watchman it was necessary for him to live on the place and the law says where a fellow lives in provided quarters for the convenience of his employer, he can't be charged with income on the rent he doesn't have to pay. But they clipped this poor joker for tax on an accumulation of about ten years' undeclared "income" in the form of rent at thirty dollars a month with compound interest. So next time I went to Washington I called on Schoeneman and Oliphant, commissioner of Internal Revenue and the bureau's counsel, both of whom were casualties of the recent explosion in that department. Schoeneman and Oliphant heard my friend's case and said it was sad but unfortunately all of us had to bear the cost of rearing. So I asked what about Truman's use of the Key West place? They were taxed on that? Oh, no, they said, the President's duties followed him wherever he went.

Listen, I said, I provide that "rude, uncouth, ignorant man" with a damn good house right here on Pennsylvania avenue, and the Constitution says nothing about free rent for him so he ought to pay taxes on all his free accommodations, including reasonable rental of the yacht, but, I said, I'll waive rent on Blair House and the steamboat but by god if you're going to slap my Arizona friend for free use of a two room adobe house you better make Harry get it up, with cumulative compound interest at six per cent.

Oh, they said, you can't call our President a "rude, uncouth, ignorant man." They said, after all, he's our President. Yes, I said, and after all he's a "rude, uncouth, ignorant man."

And now, I suppose, Mr. Stone will be spending some of that ten million trying to convince a lot of dumb simple Germans he isn't.

Esopus Firemen finished with a kick in the stretch to defeat the 50 Club, 66 to 56, to nail down first half honors in the YMCA "B" League, Saturday night before one of the largest crowds in recent years at the Y.

Ahead 10-9 at the quarter and deadlocked 24-24 at the intermission, the Esopus cagers ground out a 26-24 margin in the third period and were pulling away at the finish.

The win enabled the Firemen to finish the first round with six wins and one setback. The 50 Club had a 5-2 record.

A newcomer to the Firemen lineup, Neil Ferroli, a Wiltwyck School teacher, played brilliantly to add 18 points to the winning total.

The victory was particularly sweet for the Firemen, who avenged a 57-56 setback the 50 Club handed them on Dec. 22.

Jim Ferraro and Richie Mains, a pair of Esopus stalwarts, had 13 points each, while high scoring John Burris carried the load for the losers with 18 points.

While Esopus cashed in on a good percentage of shots, the 50 Club played exceptionally well but was off from the field. The Esopus defense kept them shooting from outside a great deal of the time.

Big Bill Kleine and Vince Peck scored 27 points each to pace Wiltwyck Motors to a stunning 76-69 upset of the hitherto undefeated Hercules powerhouse, Saturday night on the Y court.

Trailing 9-20 at the quarter, the Motormen rallied for a 21-10 edge in the second period to effect a 30-30 deadlock at halftime.

Kleine and Vince Peck were unannounced by their cord splitting shots from both sides of the court as the Motormen forced ahead 61-53 in the third period. The teams settled down to a dogged defensive struggle in the stretch with Hercules gaining a 16-15 edge.

The Hercules upset effected a tie between the Powdermen and Pottermen in the last column of the standings and left Wiltwycks only a game off the pace.

Hercules and Pottermen are scheduled in Tuesday's feature attraction on the Y boards.

Hampton Hits 23

Bones Hampton, Hercules center, accounted for 23 of his team's points. Tom Morrissey added 18 and Ward Dunham just out of service, hit for 12. Don Hazegarty scored 17 points with a series of one handers on which he dribbled through and then faked the defense out of position.

Lou Schafer described the contest as one of the finest of the season. The pass work of both teams was sharp and the shooting was of Madison Square Garden calibre.

MacPhail Enters Horse Racing Field

Baltimore, Jan. 28 (AP)—

Larry MacPhail, the man who put sparkle into big league baseball diamonds with amazing success, was set today to brush off some of his magic on Maryland's horse racing turf.

The "Barnum of Baseball" heads a New York syndicate which yesterday contracted to buy a controlling interest in Bowie track.

It appears that racing at Bowie is in for the same dazzle, hoop-to-do treatment that dressed up the Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, and led the last two to pennants.

MacPhail said from his vacation spot in Naples, Fla., he would be executive head of Bowie, and added:

"I don't expect to be working as manager, but I will accept the responsibility for management and my ideas will be behind it."

McGregor Upsets Frank Sedgman

Adelaide, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP)—

Big, hard-hitting Ken McGregor won the Australian tennis championship today when he upset Davis Cup star Frank Sedgman, 7-5, 12-10, 2-6, 6-2, in an all-Aussie final before some 6,500 surprised spectators.

Sedgman, regarded as the No. 1 player in the world, seemed to have an off-day, and McGregor was quick to cash in on Frank's frequent errors.

It was a doubly sweet victory for McGregor, for he not only won the title which just eluded him last year, but he showed the cup selectors down here that they may have been mistaken when they failed to give him a singles berth in the recent challenge round against the United States.

McGregor played only doubles against the U. S., the singles berth going to Mervyn Rose and, naturally, Sedgman.

But Sedgman, who was magnificent in the Cup play, just didn't have it today. He led in the first two sets—at 5-2 and 3-0, respectively—but wilted under the searing power game served up by McGregor.

Syracuse Widens Eastern Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Syracuse Nationals' ability to beat their nearest rival, the Boston Celtics, has widened the gap between the two top teams in the eastern division of the National Basketball Association.

The Nats chalked up their third triumph in four contests with the Celtics last night, winning 91-86 on their 11th victory in their last 12 games. The victory lengthened Syracuse's lead to four games.

With less than three minutes remaining, Syracuse went ahead 82-81 on Red Rocha's hook shot. Baskets by George King, Al Cervi and another by Rocha put the game out of Boston's reach. Dolph Schayes paced the Nats with 29 points while Bob Cousy and Ed Macauley registered 25 and 24, respectively, for Boston.

In the western division, Minneapolis' Lakers and the Rochester Royals remained deadlocked for the lead, each with a 27-15 record.

The Lakers made it six straight over Milwaukee with a 91-62 decision as Vern Mikkelsen dropped in 19 points and George Mikan added 17 more.

The Royals whipped the Indianapolis Olympians, 102-95, coasting home after taking a 25-point lead in the third period. The big point makers were Arnie Eisen with 28 and Bob Davies with 27. The defeat was the 13th in the last 14 road games for the Olympians, who have a record of 14 successive wins at home.

The Fort Wayne Pistons hit the century mark for the first time this season in downing the injury-riddled New York Knicks 100-92. The Knicks played without two of their top scorers, Vince Borzila and Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton.

Esopus Firemen finished with a kick in the stretch to defeat the 50 Club, 66 to 56, to nail down first half honors in the YMCA "B" League, Saturday night before one of the largest crowds in recent years at the Y.

Ahead 10-9 at the quarter and deadlocked 21-21 at the intermission, the Esopus cagers ground out a 26-24 margin in the third period and were pulling away at the finish.

The win enabled the Firemen to finish the first round with six wins and one setback. The 50 Club had a 5-2 record.

A newcomer to the Firemen lineup, Neil Ferrol, a Wiltwyck School teacher, played brilliantly to add 18 points to the winning total.

The victory was particularly sweet for the Firemen who avenged a 57-56 setback the 50 Club handed them on Dec. 22. Jim Ferraro and Richie Mains, a pair of Esopus stalwarts, had 13 points each, while high scoring John Burris carried the load for the losers with 18 points.

Big Bill Kleine and Vince Peck scored 27 points each to pace Wiltwyck Motors to a stunning 76-69 upset of the hitherto undefeated Hercules powerhouse, Saturday night on the Y court.

Trail 9-20 at the quarter, the Motormen rallied for a 21-10 edge in the second period to effect a 30-30 deadlock at halftime.

Kleine was superb around the basket and Vince Peck was unanny with his cord splitting shots from both sides of the court as the Motormen forced ahead 61-53 in the third period. The teams settled down to a dogged defensive struggle in the stretch with Hercules gaining a 16-15 edge.

The Hercules upset effected a tie between the Powdermen and Potters in the lost column of the standings and left Wiltwycks only a game off the pace.

Syracuse Widens Eastern Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Syracuse Nationals' ability to beat their nearest rival, the Boston Celtics, has widened the gap between the two top teams in the eastern division of the National Basketball Association.

The Nats chalked up their third triumph in four contests with the Celtics last night, winning 91-86 for their 11th victory in their last 12 games. The victory lengthened Syracuse's lead to four games.

With less than three minutes remaining Syracuse went ahead 82-81 on Red Rocha's hook shot. Baskets by George King, Al Cervi and another by Rocha put the game out of Boston's reach. Dolph Schayes paced the Nats with 29 points while Bob Cousy and Ed Macauley registered 25 and 24, respectively, for Boston.

In the western division, Minneapolis' Lakers and the Rochester Royals remained deadlocked for the lead, each with a 27-15 record.

The Lakers made it six straight over Milwaukee, with a 91-62 decision as Vern Mikkelsen dropped in 19 points and George Mikan added 17 more.

The Royals whipped the Indianapolis Olympians, 102-95, coasting home after taking a 25-point lead in the third period. The big point makers were Arnie Risen with 28 and Bob Davies with 27. The defeat was the 13th in the last 14 road games for the Olympians, who have a record of 14 successive wins at home.

The Fort Wayne Pistons hit the century mark for the first time this season in downing the injury-riddled New York Knicks 100-92. The Knicks played without two of their top scorers, Vince Borcia and Nat (Sweetwater) Clifton.

St. Bonaventure and Duquesne Remain Only Unbeaten Major College Quintets

Kansas and Illinois Tripped Over Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Down, down goes the list of major unbeaten college basketball teams and today there were but two quintets in the nation with unblemished marks—Duquesne and St. Bonaventure.

And on Feb. 11, assuming the two continue their winning ways, there will be only one because they meet on that date. Duquesne won't have it easy starting tonight, though, when it shoots for No. 12 against Villanova. The Dukes then face Baldwin-Wallace tomorrow and Akron Wednesday.

The Bonnies, with 12 in a row, aren't scheduled to play until Saturday, when they tangle with Loyola of Chicago.

At the rate the mighty have been riding the dust, it will be surprising, indeed, if the season produces one undefeated team.

Illinois and Kansas, running Nos. 1-2, respectively, in last week's Associated Press poll, were on the outside looking in after seeing their proud skeins snapped Saturday night. De Paul polished off Illinois, 69-63, and Kansas State thumped Kansas soundly 81-64. Illinois had won 11 straight and Kansas 13.

Big Seven Battle

The defeat of Kansas has the most significance. The Jayhawks were engaged in a nip-and-tuck battle with State for the Big Seven lead. Both showed 3-0 marks in the league until the game. Now K-State boasts 4-0 to 3-1 for its rival. They have another date at Lawrence on March 7, so Clyde Lovellette and Co. will have a chance to recoup.

No other team has a chance in the Big Seven race.

Illinois' setback meant nothing other than breaking its streak. The Illini still are undefeated in the Big 10 with a 4-0 slate compared to 5-1 second place Iowa, which, incidentally, lost its first game last Monday.

Illinois has two games on tap this week, Purdue tonight and Ohio State Saturday. On the basis of past performances, the League leaders should have no undue trouble with either.

In the Missouri Valley, it's beginning to look as though St. Louis, which has been the bridesmaid to Oklahoma A. and M. for two years, will come through this time. St. Louis took care of its tormenters Saturday, 48-40, and now shows a 4-0 record in league play compared to the Aggies' 2-1. They play again on March 6.

Leaders Hold On

In the Southeastern and Southern Conferences, nothing has happened to upset the leaders, namely, Kentucky and North Carolina State, except a couple of close games which may or may not indicate trouble ahead.

Kentucky, undefeated with a 6-0 record, had to go right down to the wire to defeat Alabama, 71-67, while NC State (8-0) was forced into an overtime before emerging with a 58-53 decision over North Carolina. Florida is Kentucky's closest pursuer with 5-1 and West Virginia is hot on the Wolfpack's trail with 6-1.

In the traditionally strong Skyline Conference, the three-team race has dwindled to two. Utah lost two games during the week to drop out of contention. Brigham Young holds down the top with 5-0 and Wyoming, two-time winner last week, shows a 5-1 record.

Lamotta 2-1 Choice

Over Boston Boxer

Boston, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ex-middleweight champion Jake Lamotta of New York will be back in action after a long layoff to test promising Young Norman (Bobby) Hayes of Boston tonight in the featured 10-round boxing bout at the Garden.

The Bronx Bull, 30-years-old, is a 2-1 favorite to whip the confident 20-year-old Hayes—winner over Robert Villamain of France in his previous fight. Villamain holds two victories over Lamotta. Lamotta has been idle since taking a terrific beating while losing to Irish Bob Murphy last fall.

New World Record Set In Outboard Racing

Lake Alfred, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—A new world record and a serious accident marked the third stop on motorboat racing's grapefruit circuit here Sunday.

Henry Shakeshaft, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., set the new mark of 57.389 miles an hour in the Class C outboard hydroplane class. The old record was 57.508 mph.

William A. Ritner, Merion, Pa., was seriously hurt when his 225-cubic inch inboard boat soared right out of the water while running against the wind and overturned. Ritner was thrown out. He was taken to Winter Haven General Hospital.

Ray Gassner, St. Petersburg, and J. B. Broadus, Fredericksburg, Va., also in the 225 cubic inch inboard class, each had a hole in his boat but each won a heat in the event.

Double winners were Gil Peiermann, Malverne, N. Y., in Class A, Charlie Heston, Jacksonville, in Class B and Mrs. Eleanor Shakeshaft, wife of the record-setter, in the midjet class.

Dick Howard's 607 and Eleanor Singer's 506 Top Triples in Sunday Bowling Loops

Dick Howard and Eleanor Singer led their respective divisions in last night's league bowling, the former hitting 201-204-202-607 in the Ferraro Mixed and Eleanor setting two new marks with 212 and 506 in the Ball and Chain League.

John "Red" Sangi paced the Central Rec Mixed with 180-223-172-575; Al Wohlfert's 177-212-189-578 tied George Hoffman's 167-204-207-578 in the Ruzzo Mixer, while N. Nagele topped the Pinbow League with 155, 188, 170 for 513.

Red Gorsline sandwiched 187 with 202 and 214 for a runnerup 603 series in the Ferraro Mixed. Fred Schussler shot 235-552; Doris Strubel 527, Bill Stenson 200-525, John Covey 514, Fred Bruno 205-511, Betty Sass 505, Chris Backman 503, Bill Lawrence 499 and John Bailey 497.

Several New Records

Ball and Chain keglers set up two other records besides Eleanor Singer's 212-506. The Bagels and Yoks rolled 689 for their team high in the Ferraro Mixed. Fred Schussler shot 235-552; Doris Strubel 527, Bill Stenson 200-525, John Covey 514, Fred Bruno 205-511, Betty Sass 505, Chris Backman 503, Bill Lawrence 499 and John Bailey 497.

Charles Gildersleeve fashioned a 230 single and 569 triple in the Central Rec Mixed, and Fred Schussler hit 221-553. Other top trundlers included Jack Hough, 207-537; Don Peterson 200-525; Ken Radel 525, Joe Sani 513, 533, Ken Radel 509, Roy Kooza shot another fine series to pace the women with 181-181-157-519 and Jennie Soada hit for 514.

T. Jordan's 211-561 and D. Whalen's 200-537 were other high counts. Jack Martin hit 511, A. Hutter 503, C. Tobias 500, G. Adams 203-495 and John North 493.

Ed Haines trailed Nagele with 491 in the Pinbow loop and G. Finch shot 463. In scores reported too late for publication, John Sangi led the Everybody's League with 203-176-204-583 and F. Bruno posted a 234 solo.

Rapp's Express, Elston's Sweep Three; George Flemings Leads With 669 Series

Rapp's Express keglers pounded a 3054 series to sweep three games from Middletown Bennetts, while Elston Sport was giving Ruzzo Bowlatorium the kalsomine treatment in Hudson Valley League action here yesterday.

Four of the Rapp's were over the "600" mark and George Flemings led the pack with a 669 blast on solos of 236, 206 and 227, while extending his streak of "200" games to six.

The Expressmen reeled off games of 1031, 1017 and 1006. Harold Bromkie fashioned 222-607, Hank Kemmerer hit the hat trick with 209-235-213-637 and Johnny Ferraro anchored with 234-207-634.

Shufeldt Hits 603

Despite a 603 by George Shufeldt, the Ruzzo keglers dropped three to Elstons. Shufeldt hit for 213, 215 and 175 in the leadoff spot.

Wings' Sawchuk After New Marks

(By The Associated Press)

With 10 shutouts in 46 games, Detroit's Terry Sawchuk seems to be a cinch to repeat as the National Hockey League's top goaltender.

No body is even close to the goal, quick-moving Red Wing goalie, who has allowed only 82 goals so far this season.

Sawchuk's record is simply amazing. Playing only his second year in the NHL, he is compiling one of the most impressive records in history.

Last season, when he was named the league's outstanding rookie, he allowed only 1.98 goals-per-game. This season his record is even better—1.78.

Sawchuk's playing is a big reason why Detroit leads the league by eight points. He hung up his 10th shutout of the season yesterday—he got 11 last year by blanking the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-0. A crowd of 13,904 saw third-period goals by Metro Prystai and Ted Lindsay bring Detroit its 27th win of the year.

The runnerup Toronto Maple Leafs kept pace with Detroit, however, by whipping the Boston Bruins, 3 to 0. Al Rollins registered his fifth shutout as the Leafs won their third game in four starts. Rollins is the loop's No. 2 netminder, having allowed 97 goals in 48 games.

At New York, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron scored three goals to give Montreal's Canadiens a 5-3 verdict over the Rangers.

When climbing a ladder, never grasp the rungs with your hands. They should be held on the ladder's side rails.

Old Rivals Meet With Only 2nd Place at Stake

Tuesday's Games
Poughkeepsie at Kingston.
Newburgh at Middletown.
Port Jervis at Ellenville.
Monticello at Liberty.
Fallsburg at Beacon.

Coach Sam Kalloch leads his Poughkeepsie Blues into the municipal auditorium Tuesday night for the return engagement with Kingston High, as DUSO League cagers stage a full schedule for the first time since Jan. 15.

Ordinarily, great significance would be attached to the annual appearance of the traditional foe from the Bridge City but the Ellenville debacle of Friday night changed all that.

At the moment, Coach G. Warren Kins is rightly concerned about second place and he finds the Maroons sandwiched between two powerful rivals, Fallsburg Central on top and Middletown on the bottom.

Goldbacks at Middies

Newburgh Academy, having "hottled" Liberty for its ninth straight victory on Thursday, might easily become a victim for the first time this season when it invades the home gym of the Middletown Middles.

The most improved quintet in the circuit, the Middies have been hitting in the 70s and topped Beacon, 73-32, on Friday. At the moment they have the best chance of any team in the conference to upset Coach Lanki Masterston's Gering Goldbacks.

Other conference action finds Ellenville host to Port Jervis; Monticello at Liberty in a traditional mountain area battle, while Fallsburg visits Beacon High which has taken only one game in six starts.

Despite the loss of high scoring Leroy "Eggie" Johnson, who was booted off the squad by Coach Kalloch, the Blues could make it extremely interesting for the Kiasmen. In Johnny Ripo they have one of the best scorers in the loop and Bob Lominski, backcourt ace, is capable of big totals.

Leroy Hooker continued to maintain his 20-plus scoring average despite a relatively poor night in Ellenville. The Maroons can score even on a bad night but Friday it was a case of too much Jerry Laks and Richie Drake. Laks unloaded 39 points for a new seasonal record and may have passed Hooker in the individual race.

For the record here are the selections and you can kick them around as you wish.

First Team
Benny Borgmann
Harry Hough
Bill Keenan
Charlie Bossert
Jack Inglis

Honorable Mention

FORWARDS—Sandy Shields, Johnny Deal, Joe Fogarty, Chief Muller, Dave Banks, Nat Hickey, Carl Husta and Garza Chizmadia.

CENTERS—Walt Barber, Ed Wachter, Charlie Powers, Stretch Anderson, Pat Herlihy and Joe Lapchick.

GUARDS—Winnie Kinkade, Andy Sears, George Henschel, Andy Sills, Honey Russell, Ray Kennedy, Roddy Cooney, Lloyd Kintzing and Willie Screll.

Husta reached the peak of his career as a member of the Cleveland Rosenblums and thus escaped Morgenweck's eye at a time when he might have overwhelmed the Old Maestro of pro basketball. Still, Morgie must have read the newspapers.

Many of Morgenweck's selections are "oldies" of the Neanderthal age of net basketball. That they were great in their day is not for us to dispute but Morgie's choices must be catalogued as strictly pre-World War II.

Husta himself called the turn on Mikan in answer to query about what Mikan would have done in the Husta period of zone defenses, possession play and set shooting.

"Mikan could have run up those boxcar totals in those days," Carl recalled. "Somebody would have broken his arms or legs. But he is one of the greatest players of all time and percentage-wise would have been just as far ahead of the field then as he is today. And I never saw a greater shooter than Bobby McDermott."

That's tall tribute from a man who saw Benny Borgmann at his peak.

The story of the whys and wherefores of his picks was in the traditional Morgenweck manner but here's a revealing excerpt from his statement on the astar choices.

"Harry 'Dutch' Dehnert and Nat Holman, two members of the Original Celtics, are my choices for the backcourt jobs on the second team," Morgenweck said. Though credit is generally given to Dehnert for originating the pivot play, it really belongs to Trenton of the Eastern League team of many years ago. Composed of six footers in Bernie Dunn, Maury Tome, Stretch Meehan, Teddy Kearns and Tom Barkow, the Tigers used the "back up play" long before Dehnert or the Celtics ever thought of it.

"I had Dehnert for a time at the Manhattan Casino in New York during the days of the Interstate League which flourished before World War I. He appeared to be too erratic so I let him go. Later he developed the pivot play and made good."

"I consider Holman both colorful and smart," Morgie said. "Also he is a dandy floor general, a good shot and adroit on driving shots."

So spoke the late Pop Morgenweck, who for reasons unknown, left from his all-time squad, the player generally believed to be his greatest discovery—Carl Husta.

Immanuel, Trinity Warriors Win in Junior Church

Immanuel Lutheran, Trinity Lutheran and Warriors won close victories in the week-end Junior division Protestant Church League basketball games at the Y.

The Immanuel's shaded Fair Street Reformed, 38-37, with Ronnie Gray hitting 22 points. W. Husta led Fair Street with 15.

Ronnie Marks with 17 and Otto Saluste with 14 paced Trinity's 55-54 conquest of the Cadets. J. Comstock and Richie Nagele had 18 and 14 respectively for the Cadets.

J. Woods (17) and J. Smith (13) accounted for 30 points in the Warriors' 39-33 triumph over Globetrotters. A. Kantrowitz led the losers with 17 and J. Comstock hit 14.

BOWLING

Dick Howard's 607 and Eleanor Singer's 506 Top Triples in Sunday Bowling Loops

Dick Howard and Eleanor Singer led their respective divisions in last night's league bowling, the former hitting 201-204-202-607 in the Ferraro Mixed and Eleanor setting two new marks with 212 and 506 in the Ball and Chain League.

John "Red" Sangi paced the Central Rec Mixed with 180-223-172-575; Al Wohlert's 177-212-189-578 tied George Hoffman's 167-204-207-578 in the Ruzzo Mixer, while N. Nagele topped the Pinboy League with 155, 188, 170 for 513.

"Red" Gorsline sandwiched 187 with 202 and 214 for a runner-up 603 series in the Ferraro Mixed. Fred Schussler shot 235-552; Doris Strubel 527, Bill Stenson 200-525, John Covey 514, Fred Bruno 205-511, Betty Sack 505, Chris Backman 503, Bill Lawrence 499 and John Bailey 497.

Several New Records
Ball and Chain keglers set up two other records besides Eleanor Singer's 212-506. The Bagels and Yoks rolled 689 for new team high game and Hot Bananas 1962 is a new team series. Jerry Kessler rolled 539, Herman Arlensky 553, M. Levy 517, H. Pekarsky achieved the first "500" series of his career with 516 and Moe Lazarowitz shot 201-505. Bea Arlensky was runner-up in the district department with 481. The league secretary requested 1347 special mention be made of the 139-123-489-431 triple rolled by Mitzie Arlensky.

Charlie Gildersleeve fashioned a 230 single and 569 triple in the Central Rec Mixer, and Fred Schussler hit 221-565. Other top trundlers included Jack Hough, 207-537, Don Petersen 513, 533, Ken Rader 525, Joe Sano 513 and F. Clone 509. Kay Roosa shot another fine series to pace the women with 181-181-157-519 and Jennie Snoda hit for 514.

T. Jordan's 211-561 and D. Whalen's 200-537 were other high counts. Jack Martin hit 200-537, McCaffrey 218-520, F. Passer 511, A. Hutton 503, C. Tobias 500, G. Adams 204-495 and John North 493.

Ed Haines trailed Nagele with 491 in the Pinboy loop and G. Finch shot 463.
In scores reported too late for publication, John Sangi led the Everbody's League with 203-176-204-583 and F. Bruno posted a 234 solo.

Rapp's Express, Elston's Sweep Three; George Flemings Leads With 669 Series

Rapp's Express keglers pounded a 3054 series to sweep three games from Middletown Bennetts, while Elston Sport was giving Ruzzo Bowlatorium the kalsomine treatment in Hudson Valley League action here yesterday.

Four of the Rapp's were over the "600" mark and George Flemings led the pack with a 669 blast on solos of 236, 206 and 227, while extending his streak of "200" games to six.

The Expressmen reeled off games of 1031, 1017 and 1046.

Harold Broskie fashioned 222-607, Hank Kemmerer hit the hat trick with 209-235-213-657 and Johnny Ferraro anchored with 234-207-634.

Bert Zimmer fashioned 247 and 546 to lead the Middletown trundlers.

Shufeldt Hits 603
Despite a 603 by George Shufeldt, the Ruzzo keglers dropped three to Elstons. Shufeldt hit for 213, 215 and 175 in the leadoff spot.

Wings' Sawchuk After New Marks

(By The Associated Press)
With 10 shutouts in 46 games, Detroit's Terry Sawchuk seems to be a cinch to repeat as the National Hockey League's top goaltender.

No body is even close to the goalie, quick-moving Red Wing goalie who has allowed only 82 goals so far this season.

Sawchuk's record is simply amazing. Playing only his second year in the NHL, he is compiling one of the most impressive records in history.

Last season, when he was named the league's outstanding rookie, he allowed only 198 goals in 46 games. This season his record is even better—178.

Sawchuk's playing is a big reason why Detroit leads the league by eight points. He hung up his 10th shutout of the season yesterday—he got 11 last year by blanking the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-0, a crowd of 13,904.

A season's record for Chicago—53 third-period goals by Metro Prystai and Ted Lindsay bring Detroit its 27th win of the year.

The runnerup Toronto Maple Leafs kept pace with Detroit, however, by whipping the Boston Bruins, 3 to 0. Al Rollins regaled his fifth shutout as the Leafs won their first game in four starts. Rollins is the league's No. 2 netminder, having allowed 97 goals in 48 games.

At New York, Bernie (Boom) Geoffrion scored three goals to give Montreal's Canadiens a 5-3 verdict over the Rangers.

When climbing a ladder, never grasp the rungs with your hands. They should be held on the ladder's side rails.

lead Elstons, while Charlie Manfrotto, 210-205-558 and Larry Weishaupt hit 208-555.

Old Rivals Meet With Only 2nd Place at Stake

Tuesday's Games
Poughkeepsie at KINGSTON, Newburgh at Middletown, Port Jervis at Ellenville, Monticello at Liberty, Fallsburg at Beacon.

Coach Sam Kalloch leads his Poughkeepsie Blues into the municipal auditorium Tuesday night for the return engagement with Kingston High, as DUSO League cagers stage a full schedule for the first time since Jan. 15.

Ordinarily, great significance would be attached to the annual appearance of the traditional foe from the Bridge City but the Ellenville debacle of Friday night changed all that.

At the moment, Coach G. Warren Kias is rightly concerned about second place and he finds the Maroons sandwiched between two powerful rivals, Fallsburg Central on top and Middletown on the bottom.

Goldbacks at Middies

Newburgh Academy, having "throttled" Liberty for its ninth straight victory on Thursday, might easily become a victim for the first time this season when it invades the home gym of the Middletown Middies.

The most improved quintet in the league, the Middies have been hitting in the 70s and topped Beacon, 73-32, on Friday. At the moment they have the best chance of any team in the conference to unseat Coach Lanky Masterston's Glittering Goldbacks.

Other conference action finds Ellenville host to Port Jervis; Monticello at Liberty in a traditional mountain area battle, while Fallsburg visits Beacon High which has taken only one game in six starts.

Despite the loss of high scoring Leroy "Eggy" Johnson, who was booted off the squad by Coach Kalloch, the Blues could make it extremely interesting for the Kismen. In Johnny Ripo they have one of the best scorers in the loop and Bob Lominski, backcourt ace, is capable of big totals.

Leroy Hooker continued to maintain his 20-plus scoring average despite a relatively poor night in Ellenville. The Maroons can score even on a bad night but Friday it was a case of too much Jerry Lakes and Richie Drake.

Lakes unloaded 39 points for a new seasonal record and may have passed Hooker in the individual race.

For the record here are the selections and you can kick them around as you wish.

Husta reached the peak of his career as a member of the Cleveland Rosenblums and thus escaped Morgenweck's eye at a time when he might have overwhelmed the Old Maestro of pro basketball. Still, Morgie must have read the newspapers.

Many of Morgenweck's selections are "oldies" of the Neanderthal age of net basketball. That they were great in their day is not for us to dispute but Morgie's choices must be catalogued as strictly pre-World War II.

Husta himself called the turn on Mikan in answer to query about what Mikan would have done in the Husta period of zone defenses, possession play and set shooting.

"Mikan could never have run up those boxcar totals in those days," Carl recalled. "Somebody would have broken his arms or legs. But he is one of the greatest players of all time and percentage-wise would have been just as far ahead of the field then as he is today. And I never saw a greater shooter than Bobby McDermott."

That's tall tribute to a man who saw Benny Borgmann at his peak.

The story of the whys and wherefores of his picks was in the traditional Morgenweck manner but here's a revealing excerpt from his statement on the all-star choices.

"Harry Dutey Dehnert and Nat Holman, two members of the Original Celtics, are my choices for the backcourt jobs on the second team," Morgenweck said. "Though credit is generally given to Dehnert for originating the pivot play, it really belongs to Trenton of the Eastern League team of many years ago. Composed of six footers in Bernie Dunn, Maury Tome, Stretch Mehan, Teddy Kearns and Tom Barkow, the Tigers used the 'back up play' long before Dehnert or the Celtics ever thought of it."

"I consider Holman both colorful and smart," Morgie said. "Also he is a dandy floor general, a good shot and adroit on driving shots."

Woodstock Board Adopts Resolution, Designates Bank

In anticipation of the probable establishment of a bank in the village in the near future, the town board of Woodstock at a meeting held last week adopted a resolution, as required by town law, designating the State of New York National Bank of Kingston, as the depository for the funds of the town, except the Highway Fund which shall be deposited in the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston.

The town board then went further in its resolution designating depositories by adding that these banking houses shall remain the depositories for the Town of Woodstock funds "until such time as a bank, or a branch bank may be opened in the Town of Woodstock, at which time said bank or branch bank shall become the official depository for all town funds of the Town of Woodstock."

Action of the town board taken at this time indicates the opening of a banking establishment in the village of Woodstock is much closer at hand than many people believe.

May Establish Branch

There has been a persistent rumor, not yet verified, which indicates a branch bank may be established in Woodstock within the next few months. It is rumored that the town board has been studying the possibility of establishing a branch bank in Woodstock.

Zaidenberg Book On Art Reviewed

Woodstock, Jan. 28.—A review of the recently published book, The Art of the Artist, Theories and Techniques of Art by the artist, was without distinction as an artist, Zaidenberg, who was of considerable stature as a Renaissance sculptor, left merely a moderately good and highly egocentric guide to technique as well as his famous "Autobiography," which is better as a record of swashbuckling exploits than as a guide to technique. But in this case most of the professional collaborators have let Mr. Zaidenberg down badly. Just five, hardly more than one-tenth of the lot, speak with clarity, authority and distinction: Ralph Wiksner on "The Education of the Artist"; Anton Refregier on "Line"; Eugene Speicher on "Painting a Portrait"; Paul Burlin on "Creative Painting." It is likely, in fact, that the first three of these have written for the profession. But in this case most of the professional collaborators have let Mr. Zaidenberg down badly. Mollie Smith Gallery
 Woodstock, Jan. 28.—The re-opening of the Mollie Smith Gallery, on the village green, has been postponed from January 25, to February 2. Mrs. Smith returned from a short trip to New York last week, where she conferred with several dealers completing arrangements for a number of oil paintings to be shown at her gallery along with black and white drawings, etchings and lithographs.

With the enlargement of her gallery, Mrs. Smith will be able to show paintings by two artists represented by the Wolfe Gallery. She has also added the works of two artists represented by the Frank Rehn Gallery, whose work has not been previously shown here.

Legion Meeting
 Woodstock, Jan. 28.—The monthly meeting of American Legion Post 1026 will be held Wednesday, January 30, at the Legion Hall, at 8 p. m.

Village Notes
 Woodstock, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Virginia Thomas, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Jerominek and will remain here for about two months. Mrs. Jerominek drove with her mother from Washington last weekend and while in Washington completed arrangements for sending her son, Clark Bell to Georgetown College next year.

William MacReady left Sunday for Tampa, Fla., where he will visit his brother.

Mrs. John Chester of Staatsburg was the weekend house guest of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Crampton returned last Friday from New York where they have been for the past two months.

Rudolph Baumgarten, son of Mrs. Stephany Baumgarten, has received his discharge from the U. S. Navy, and has returned to this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman gave a farewell party at their home in Zena Sunday night. They will depart on a trip to Mexico Tuesday.

Mrs. Monica Neilson has returned from a few days' trip to New York.

Richard R. Ford, M.A. 2nd, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. Raymond Ford, of Willow, has been sent to San Francisco for 10 weeks of study at the I.B.M. advanced training school. Ford has been stationed at San Diego, Calif.

teachers and principals for their cooperation and compliance with the rules and regulations. Through this splendid cooperation it has been possible to accomplish the move with no loss of time," said Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw who with Principal Ambrose J. Boyd and members of the Board of Education were present to supervise the move.

Model of Plants
 Complete in every detail from the auditorium which seats 580, down to the last class room the George Washington School is a model of present day educational plants.

Not only has it been planned for complete school use but it has been designed to be a community asset where community affairs can be held.

The large auditorium and the gym are both located on the Wall street side of the school and are located that they may be used for community purposes without disrupting the school sessions. At night when the class rooms are not in use they may be closed off by means of folding gates from the auditorium or gym when those facilities are being used for community purposes. This will prevent those attending functions in the public portion of the building from wandering through the class room section of the building.

Class Rooms Completed
 All class rooms were completed and ready for use today. Some work remains to be done in the large gym which may be separated by movable partitions for the purpose of dividing the gym into two parts, one for use by the girls and one for use by the boys. The kitchen still is to be furnished and the cafeteria will not be open for use for a time for serving hot meals. However the room will be available for use by children bringing their own lunches to school. Milk was being delivered today for students use at noon.

All pupils from No. 8 school were transferred to the new school today and 195 pupils residing on Main street or south of Main street, who formerly attended No. 7 school, were transferred to the new school. This division of the No. 7 district was on a "tentative" basis for this term school officials said. It will be necessary to ascertain how the plan works out before a permanent division of the No. 7 district can be announced. The Washington school has a capacity of 850 pupils.

Kindergarten Rooms Active
 In the Kindergarten section, which is entirely separate from the grade rooms and has its own play area fenced in, two of the three kindergarten rooms were in use today.

In the building is a section for special classes where manual training work will form a part of the program. This section, located on the basement floor, is divided into two rooms with a glassed partition between the two departments designed so that the teacher may supervise both classes and still one class will not be disturbed by the noise of the manual training program in one room while the other section may be in class session.

Entrance to the Washington school is from Wall street with the main entrance to the school along the auditorium entrance. Adjacent to the office and private room of Principal Boyd.

Throughout the building the corridors are tiled for minimum of upkeep and each of the class rooms is painted its own distinctive color to relieve the monotony of a "one color scheme" throughout the building.

Loud Speaker System
 In each room is a loud speaker system for announcements from the office and a telephone system is a part of each room.

There is an audio visual room with its own miniature stage where pupils may be made accustomed to appearing before a group. Music rooms, art rooms and other special rooms are provided. The entire building is fitted with acoustical ceilings for quietness and off the auditorium stage are two dressing rooms.

In the building are twenty-four rooms in addition to the auditorium, gym, cafeteria, kitchens, and other special rooms and facilities.

Novel in the building is the custodian's quarters located in the basement. There has been fitted out a small apartment with its own kitchen, living room, bath and two bedrooms. A resident custodian will have charge of the building.

Large Storage Space
 Under the auditorium is provided a large storage space.

In the school is provided a room for the director of Elementary Education in the city school system.

President of the Board of Education Clarence Rowland was present at the opening of the school, as were other members of the board including Robert Herzog, chairman of the building committee, and Mayor Oscar V. Newark also took part in the opening.

Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren was also present to observe the traffic conditions and study the situation under actual school conditions.

Speed zone signs have been erected cautioning traffic to slow down to 10 miles an hour in the vicinity of the school and parking

Big Three to Call

against southeast Asia made earlier at this assembly session by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Cooper said he had been instructed by the U. S. Government to "state clearly that any such Communist aggression in southeast Asia would in the view of the government be a matter of direct and grave concern which would require the most earnest consideration by the United Nations."

Must Share Concern
 The American spokesman said he was "sure that all of the peace-loving states represented here must share the concern of my government over the threat of further Communist aggression in Asia which may be latent in the Soviet representative's statement of January 3."

In the speech to which Cooper referred, Vishinsky accused the United States of preparing aggressive measures against Communist China along the South China borders. The Soviet diplomat then declared:

"These illegal—flagrantly illegal—acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan Province (of China)."

Vishinsky did not amplify what he meant by "events," but some delegates construed his remarks as a warning that the Chinese Reds might use the charges of U. S. aggression to justify new military action on the southern border.

Possible Military Action
 Today's American declaration indicated that in case of such attack, the U. S. would call on the UN to take action—possible unified military resistance such as that in Korea.

Top military leaders of the United States, Britain and France met in Washington recently to discuss counter moves to any Red aggression in southeast Asia. Today's statement was the first specific American indication of what action the U. S. would take.

Cooper called attention to Vishinsky's accusation that the U. S. ferried Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa to Thailand and Burma for aggression against Red China.

"Needless to say, they (the charges) are entirely false and without foundation," the American delegate said, he continued:

"If we refer at all to the Soviet representative's recent statements, it is because my government and the peoples of the world are concerned over the possible significance which this statement might have for the future of international peace."

Pointing out that Russia had made similar charges against the U. S. to justify Red action in Korea, Cooper asked:

"Do the false charges made by the Soviet representative on January 3 preface Communist aggression in Indochina or Thailand or Burma?"

Julius Katz-Suchy of Poland today repeated Vishinsky's charges and claimed that troops supplied with American arms were in Burma "waiting for an order to launch an attack" on Red China.

He called Cooper's statement a cover-up for "American aggressive plans in the Far East."

Lloyd, in announcing Britain's seconding of the American statement, said "Vishinsky's charges had 'an ominous ring.' He called them the 'normal vocabulary of the aggressor.'"

Woodstock Board Adopts Resolution, Designates Bank

In anticipation of the probable establishment of a bank in the town of Woodstock at a meeting held last week adopted a resolution, as required by town law, designating the State of New York National Bank of Kingston, as the depository for the funds of the town, except the Highway Fund which shall be deposited in the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston.

The town board then went further in its resolution designating depositories by adding that these banking houses shall remain the depositories for the Town of Woodstock funds "until such time as a bank, or a branch bank may be opened in the Town of Woodstock, at which time said bank or branch bank shall become the official depository for all town funds of the Town of Woodstock."

There has been a persistent rumor, not yet verified, which indicates a branch bank may be established in Woodstock within the next few months. It is believed.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Zaidenberg Book On Art Reviewed

Woodstock, Jan. 28—A review of the recently published book, "The Art of the Artist, Theories and Techniques of Art by the Artists themselves," compiled by Arthur Zaidenberg, artist and author of Woodstock, appeared in the Sunday Book Review of the New York Times, Alfred N. Frankfurter, editor of the Art News, who was one of the guest speakers on the panel discussions following the first art film festival held last summer in this village, wrote of the book as follows:

"Ideally, this book represents the vade mecum we have all, artists and laymen who care about art, been waiting for. It is a book of the craft of painters and sculptors, written by forty-three practitioners. Practically, it succeeds largely in proving again that painters and sculptors are best if not exclusively able to communicate on canvas or in clay. Only one artist in history has become near touching the greatness of his art with his words. He was, of course, Delacroix, and his writing was not planned but the self-conscious kind put down in his journals."

"Cennino Cennini, who left us the only authoritative manual of the early Renaissance painter's craft, was without distinction an artist, Benevenuto Cellini, who was of considerable stature as a Renaissance sculptor, left merely a moderate guide to technique as well as his famous 'Autobiography,' which is better as a record of swashbuckling exploits than of his art. There remain Sir Joshua Reynolds' 'Discourses,' which do deserve wider reading than they enjoy today, especially in America, but few will dispute that Sir Joshua was a fine painter only in his rare private moments and a poor one in public."

"Nevertheless, Mr. Zaidenberg, an indefatigable popularizer who has compiled several beginner's manuals on art, has tried to assemble what would come together with relative ease if one were to ask 43 successful short-story authors or 43 mathematicians or even 43 editors to set down their recipes for the principles and procedures of their profession. But in this case most of the professional collectors have let Mr. Zaidenberg down badly. Just five, hardly more than one-tenth of the lot, speak with clarity, authority and distinction: Ralph Wickiser on 'The Education of the Artist'; Anton Refregier on 'Line'; Fletcher Martin on 'Composition'; Eustace Schieffelin on 'Creative Painting.' It is likely, in fact, that the first three of these have written with enough sense and originality to make the book worth its modest price (rarely more than a day's expense illustrated books) to an art student or amateur artist."

"Mr. Zaidenberg's own contribution on drawing has, in fact, a kind of elementary adequacy. As editor, he should have occupied himself with a glossary of art terminology instead of piling more confusion on the Babel of obscure and contradictory jargon already contributed by this galaxy of adepts at visual rather than verbal communication (i.e., his own straining distinction between 'unsearching eye' and the 'inner eye'). Other contributions include such gems of humor as that of Doris Lee, who takes her text from inscriptions over portals to art schools which she quotes, or such examples of majestic pettiness as that of Sidney Laufman, who launches an attack on abstract painting 'chex signs with which the artist is vainly trying to conjure away the terror and confusion and insecurity of a troubled world.'"

"This reviewer's favorite statement, however, comes from Rosella Hartman, who is competent in the field of animal drawing, on which she writes: 'The artist who wants to do animals must have patience and plenty of time. So must the artist who wants to read what other artists have to say about art.'"

Re-opening February 2
Woodstock, Jan. 28—The re-opening of the Mollie Smith Gallery, on the village green, has been postponed from January 25, to February 2. Mrs. Smith returned from a short trip to New York last week, where she conferred with several dealers completing arrangements for a number of oil paintings to be shown at her gallery along with black and white drawings, etchings and lithographs.

With the enlargement of her gallery, Mrs. Smith will be able to show paintings by two artists represented by the Wehje Gallery. She has also added the works of two artists represented by the Frank Rehn Gallery, whose work has not been previously shown here.

Legion Meeting

Woodstock, Jan. 28—The monthly meeting of American Legion Post 1026 will be held Wednesday, January 30, at the Legion Hall, at 8 p. m.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Jan. 28—Mrs. Virginia Thomas of Washington, D. C., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Jerominek and will remain here for about two months. Mrs. Jerominek drove with her mother from Washington last weekend and while in Washington completed arrangements for sending her son, Clark, to Georgetown College next year.

William MacReady left Sunday for Tampa, Fla., where he will visit his brother.

Mrs. John Chester of Staatsburg was the weekend house guest of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Crampton returned last Friday from New York where they have been for the past two months.

Rudolph Baumgarten, son of Mrs. Stephany Baumgarten, has received his discharge from the U. S. Navy, and has returned to this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman gave a farewell party at their home in Zena Sunday night. They will depart on a trip to Mexico Tuesday.

Mrs. Monica Nielsen has returned from a few days' trip to New York.

Richard R. Ford, M.A. 2nd, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. Raymond Ford, of Willow, has been sent to San Francisco for 10 weeks of study at the I.B.M. advanced training school. Ford has been stationed at San Diego, Calif.

teachers and principals for their cooperation and compliance with the rules and regulations. Through this splendid cooperation it has been possible to accomplish the move with no loss of time," said Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw who with Principal Ambrose J. Boyd and members of the Board of Education were present to supervise the move.

Model of Plants
Complete in every detail from the auditorium which seats 580, down to the last class room, the George Washington School is a model of present day educational plants.

Not only has it been planned for complete school use but it has been designed to be a community asset where community affairs can be held.

The large auditorium and the gym are both located on the Wall street side of the school and are located that they may be used for community purposes without disrupting the school sessions. At night when the class rooms are not in use they may be closed off by means of folding gates from the auditorium or gym when those facilities are being used for community purposes. This will prevent those attending functions in the public portion of the building from wandering through the class room section of the building.

Class Rooms Completed
All class rooms were completed and ready for use today. The work remains to be done in the large gym which may be separated by movable partitions for the purpose of dividing the gym into two parts, one for use by the girls and one for use by the boys. The kitchen still is to be furnished and the cafeteria will not be open for use for a time for serving hot meals. However the room will be available for use by children bringing their own lunches to school. Milk was being delivered today for students use at noon.

All pupils from No. 8 school were transferred to the new school today and 195 pupils residing on Main street or south of Main street, who formerly attended No. 7 school, were transferred to the new school. This division of the No. 7 district was on a "tentative" basis for this term school officials said. It will be necessary to ascertain how the plan works out before a permanent division of the No. 7 district can be announced. The Washington school has a capacity of 850 pupils.

Kindergarten Rooms Active
In the Kindergarten section, which is entirely separate from the grade rooms and has its own play area fenced in, two of the three kindergarten rooms were in use today.

In the building is a section for special classes where manual training work will form a part of the program. This section, located on the basement floor, is divided into two rooms with a glassed partition between the two departments designed so that the teacher may supervise both classes and still one class will not be disturbed by the noise of the manual training program in one room while the other section may be in class session.

Entrance to the Washington school is from Wall street with the main entrance to the school along the auditorium entrance. Adjacent to the office and private room of Principal Boyd.

Throughout the building the corridors are tiled for minimum of upkeep and each of the class rooms is painted its own distinctive color to relieve the monotony of a "one color scheme" throughout the building.

Loud Speaker System
In each room is a loud speaker system for announcements from the office and a telephone system is a part of each room.

There is an audio visual room with its own miniature stage where pupils may be made accustomed to appearing before a group. Music rooms, art rooms and other special rooms are provided. The entire building is fitted with acoustical ceilings for quietness and off the auditorium stage are two dressing rooms.

In the building are twenty-four rooms in addition to the auditorium, gym, cafeteria, kitchen, and other special rooms and facilities. Novel in the building is the custodian's quarters located in the basement. There has been fitted out a small apartment with its own kitchen, living room, bath and two bedrooms. A resident custodian will have charge of the building.

Large Storage Space
Under the auditorium is provided a large storage space.

In the school is provided a room for the director of Elementary Education in the city school system.

President of the Board of Education Clarence Rowland was present at the opening of the school, as were other members of the board including Robert Herzog, chairman of the building committee, and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk also took part in the opening. Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren was also present to observe the traffic conditions and study the situation under actual school conditions.

Speed zone signs have been erected cautioning traffic to slow down to 10 miles an hour in the vicinity of the school and parking

When the building is entirely completed the board of education will hold an "open house" for public inspection of the new school.

Big Three to Call

against southeast Asia made earlier at this assembly session by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Cooper said he had been instructed by the U. S. Government to "state clearly that any such Communist aggression in southeast Asia would be a matter of direct and grave concern which would require the most earnest consideration by the United Nations."

Must Share Concern
The American spokesman said he was "sure that all of the peace-loving states of the world must share the concern of my government over the threat of further Communist aggression in Asia which may be latent in the Soviet representative's statement of January 3."

In the speech to which Cooper referred, Vishinsky accused the United States of preparing aggressive measures against Communist China along the South China borders. The Soviet diplomat then declared:

"These illegal—flagrantly illegal—acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan Province (of China)."

Vishinsky did not amplify what he meant by "events," but some delegates construed his remarks as a warning that the Chinese Reds might use the charges of U. S. aggression to justify new military action on the southern border.

Possible Military Action
Today's American declaration indicated that in case of such attack, the U. S. would call on the UN to take action—possible unified military resistance such as that in Korea.

Top military leaders of the United States, Britain and France met in Washington recently to discuss counter moves to any Red aggression in southeast Asia. Today's statement was the first specific American indication of what action the U. S. would take.

Cooper called attention to Vishinsky's accusation that the U. S. ferried Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa to Thailand and Burma for aggression against Red China.

"Needless to say, they (the charges) are entirely false and without foundation," the American delegate said, he continued:

"If we refer at all to the Soviet representative's recent statements, it is because my government and the peoples of the world are concerned over the possible significance which this statement might have for the future of international peace."

Pointing out that Russia had made similar charges against the U. S. to justify Red action in Korea, Cooper asked:

"Do the false charges made by the Soviet representative on January 3 preclude Communist aggression in Indochina or Thailand or Burma?"

Julius Katz-Suchy of Poland today repeated Vishinsky's charges and claimed that troops supplied with American arms were in Burma "waiting for an order to launch an attack on Red China."

He called Cooper's statement a cover-up for "American aggressive plans in the Far East."

Lloyd, in announcing Britain's seconding of the American statement, said Vishinsky's charges had "an ominous ring." He called them the "normal vocabulary of the aggressor."

Baby Is Found Dead Suspended From Carriage

Jeffrey St. Paul, one, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Paul of 45 Sylvester street, was pronounced dead at Kingston Hospital about noon on Saturday after he was taken there in the fire chief's car, the police reported.

Police said the baby's parents found him suspended from his waist about 11 a. m. Dr. H. L. Bibby, who was summoned by the parents, accompanied the child to the hospital, according to the police department report. Police and fire departments were summoned to assist in resuscitation attempts.

The death was not a coroner's case, Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said. Jeffrey Lambert St. Paul was the infant son of Joseph E. and Violet St. Paul. Surviving, in addition to his parents, are a brother, Joseph E. St. Paul, Jr.; his grandparents, Joseph T. St. Paul of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rittie of East Kingston; also many aunts and uncles. Funeral services will be held at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Transit Strike Over

Baltimore, Jan. 28 (AP)—The 18-day-old transit strike was officially over today and busses, streetcars and trackless trolleys were to start rolling again tomorrow morning. The walkout that had hobbled, but not crippled, this sixth largest city since Jan. 10, ended last night when 3,200 striking drivers voted 2,461 to 100 to accept a three-year contract giving them a total wage increase of 21 cents an hour, plus other benefits.

Telephone Census

Montreal (AP)—Statistics released here show Canada is third in the world telephone census with a total of 2,911,900 instruments. The United States leads with 43,003,000 telephones and the United Kingdom has 5,433,600.

In these days of high prices, Smith-Parish cannot truthfully tell you that we are "cutting" prices on ROOFING Work and ROOFING Materials! Our wholesale costs have risen too—so have our operating expenses to some extent.

But...we can inform you of two important facts.

First, the quality of our merchandise is superior—in many cases better than last year! And secondly, our prices are practically the same as last year! Thus you are really purchasing better quality for the same price—which means that you are receiving a legitimate bargain.

You can prove these facts for yourself—by phoning 5636 and talking over your ROOFING problems with us. Never will we pressure you into a purchase—and always we will guarantee that you receive what you believed you were purchasing.

WINDFALL FROM UNCLE SAM—William Moore, a printer of Cleveland, Ohio, finally got the refund for overpayment of his 1949 income tax. On January 22, 1952, he received a Treasury Department check dated March 28, 1950. Here he looks with puzzled admiration at the pretty baby-blue check, printed on heavy, expensive paper, all fixed up with punch holes for those "thinking" machines they have down in Washington. The check was for one cent—the amount of his refund. Moore is trying to find out how much of his tax money it cost the government to do the book-keeping, write and mail the check and nurse it along on its nearly two-year trip to his mailbox.

Flood Chases 7,000 Persons From Homes on Ohio River

Marietta, O., Jan. 28 (AP)—Flood waters of the muddy Ohio river churned over lowlands today, chasing about 7,000 persons from their Ohio and West Virginia homes.

The Ohio chalked up three deaths and untold property damage in the first 36 hours of its rapid rise.

The crest of the sullen flood neared Steubenville after turning the big bend of the Ohio at East Liverpool, O. Steubenville looked for a crest of 42 feet by noon and the river rose one foot an hour just ahead of the crest. Flood stage is 32 feet.

Three areas appeared due to take the river's biggest battering today. First to feel the river's might was Steubenville and the area just to the south on both sides of the swollen stream. One hundred eighty families moved from their homes in Jefferson county, O., and merchants moved from 22 business houses.

This included 110 families and 10 firms at Brilliant, 48 families and two firms at Empure and Stratton and eight families at Mingo Junction, O.

200 Families Move Out
Across the river at New Cumberland, W. Va., 200 families moved out. Other families evacuated at Wellsburg, W. Va.

Next area to retreat before the river was at Wheeling, W. Va., and Bridgeport, Martins Ferry, Bellaire and Shadyside, O. This might well be the hardest hit spot along the river.

Rescue agencies estimated a total of 2,000 persons already evacuated in the area, including 109 families at Wheeling and Wheeling Island.

The crest is expected to hit 44.5 feet around noon—probably later—and this left a prospect of two feet of water running over one-fourth of Wheeling, parts of Bellaire and Bridgeport.

The Ohio Valley Board of Trade said 18,000 persons and 3,300 buildings will be affected by the crest of the flood in Wheeling alone. This means that many buildings will have water in them and that many persons will be

In these days of high prices, Smith-Parish cannot truthfully tell you that we are "cutting" prices on ROOFING Work and ROOFING Materials! Our wholesale costs have risen too—so have our operating expenses to some extent.
But...we can inform you of two important facts.
First, the quality of our merchandise is superior in many cases than last year! And secondly, our prices are practically the same as last year! Thus you are really purchasing better quality for the same price—which means that you are receiving a legitimate bargain.

You can prove these facts for yourself — by phoning 5656 and talking over your ROOFING problems with us. Never will we pressure you into a purchase—and always we will guarantee that you receive what you believed you were purchasing.

WINDFALL FROM UNCLE SAM—William Moore, a printer of Cleveland, Ohio, finally got the refund for overpayment of his 1949 income tax. On January 22, 1952, he received a Treasury Department check dated March 28, 1950. Here he looks with puzzled admiration at the pretty baby-blue check, printed on heavy, expensive paper, all fixed up with punch holes for those "thinking" machines they have down in Washington. The check was for one cent—the amount of his refund. Moore is trying to find out how much of his tax money it cost the government to do the book-keeping, write and mail the check and nurse it along on its nearly two-year trip to his mailbox.

Flood Chases 7,000 Persons
From Homes on Ohio River

Marietta, O., Jan. 28 (AP)—Flood waters of the muddy Ohio river churned over lowlands today, chasing about 7,000 persons from their Ohio and West Virginia homes.

The Ohio chalked up three deaths and untold property damage in the first 36 hours of its rapid rise.

The crest of the sullen flood neared Steubenville after turning the big bend of the Ohio at East Liverpool, O. Steubenville looked for a crest of 42 feet by noon and the river rose one foot an hour just ahead of the crest. Flood stage is 32 feet.

Three areas appeared due to take the river's biggest battering today.
First to feel the river's might was Steubenville and the area just to the south on both sides of the swollen stream. One hundred eighty families moved from their homes in Jefferson county, O., and merchants moved from 22 business houses.

This included 110 families and 10 firms at Brilliant, 48 families and two firms at Empire and Stratton and eight families at Mingo Junction, O.

200 Families Move Out
Across the river at New Cumberland, W. Va., 200 families moved out. Other families evacuated at Wellsburg, W. Va.

Next area to retreat before the river was at Wheeling, W. Va., and Bridgeport, Martins Ferry, Bellaire and Shadyside, O. This might well be the hardest hit spot along the river.

Rescue agencies estimated a total of 2,000 persons already evacuated in the area, including 109 families at Wheeling and Wheeling Island.

The crest is expected to hit 44.5 feet around noon—probably later—and this left a prospect of two feet of water running over one-fourth of Wheeling, parts of Bellaire and Bridgeport.

The Ohio Valley Board of Trade said 18,000 persons and 3,300 buildings will be affected by the crest of the flood in Wheeling alone. This means that many buildings will have water in them and that many persons will be CAPITOL CLEAN-UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wisc.) tries out an outside broom sent him by constituents from Little Chute, Wisc., to help him "clean up the capitol." McCarthy's specialty has been in trying to ferret out Communists in government agencies.

Collides With Sedan

Helen M. Longhi of Pine Hill reported to police headquarters Sunday afternoon that an unidentified boy, about five or six years old, ran from between parked automobiles and "collided with" the left front end of the sedan she was driving north on Broadway. The boy's mother, who was present, declined to have the boy taken to a doctor. Miss Longhi told police. The accident occurred on Broadway near O'Neil street about 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Miller Honored by Bar

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Former New York Governor Nathan L. Miller has been presented the New York State Bar Association's first gold medal award for "distinguished service to the legal profession." The award was made Saturday at the closing of the association's four-day meeting here. Miller, 83-year-old counsel for the U. S. Steel Corp., was presented by illness from receiving the award personally. He was governor in 1921-22.
